CANFIELD RESIGNS AS CITY TREASURER

To Become Executive Secretary of Chamber of Commerce at Saratoga Springs---Addison D. Pardee Succeeds Him---Mr. Canfield's Fine Record.

City Treasurer James E. Canfield today filed his resignation with Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., to take effect August 1, and Addison D. Pardee was appointed to fill the vacancy by the mayor. Mr. Canfield has accepted the post of executive secretary of the newly organized Chamber of Commerce of Saratoga Springs.

Mr. Canfield, during the time he has efficiently served the city as its city treasurer, instituted the system of sending out the tax bills, which has saved a lot of trouble on the part of taxpayers who in the past were forced either to pay a visit to the city treasurer's office to ascertain how much the amount of their taxes were or else call up the office on the telephone. While there was some delay in getting the system in working order for the city tax, the system has not been perfected and bills for the school tax will be mailed out about the last of this month.

Office Records in Shape.

While city treasurer, Mr. Canfield has systemized the records of the office and made them more readily accessible. They have been properly indexed and it is now possible to ascertain any fact in connection with the detail work of the office readily. When he assumed the office he found the records greatly jumbled and it took considerable time to straighten matters out.

With the records and other office details as arranged now it will make the work much easier for his successor.

Banks Pay Interest.

Acting on his own initiative and before any suggestion was made, Mr. Canfield took up with the local banks the question of the banks paying interest on the city's money deposited with them.

Within the past four months the city has received $1,246 75 interest in its money. This more than pays the administrative force's salary of the city treasurer's office for that time.

An Efficient Treasurer.

Mr. Canfield while serving as city treasurer has made a record for efficiency that has never been equalled, and will be hard to surpass. He was a man who was eminently fitted for the position he occupied and his regard for the smallest detail of the work and the system he has installed adds greatly to the efficiency of the office.

Was Secretary of C. of C.

Mr. Canfield before assuming the office of city treasurer served the local Chamber of Commerce as its secretary, and under his administration the organization widened its scope of work. Mr. Canfield is naturally a modest man and for that reason never assumed credit for the work he accomplished, but preferred to let results speak for themselves.

Called to Saratoga.

The Chamber of Commerce at Saratoga Springs is only recently organized, with the leading business men of that city behind it, and almost as soon as the organization was completed they extended an urgent call to Mr. Canfield to asume the duties of executive secretary.

Several weeks ago they became so insistent on his accepting the position that he finally decided to do so, provided he could remain in Kingston until the first of August so as to complete the work he had begun in rearranging and classifying the records of the city treasurer's office.

While they were anxious to have him report at once they decided to give him the time required to complete the work he had so efficiently started in the city treasurer's office, and when his successor assumes office he will find everything in shape to carry on the work.

Will Be Missed.

Mr. Canfield while a resident of Kingston has always taken an active interest in the civic welfare of the city, and has always been among the foremost in advancing the interests of Kingston. He is a man who by his work in the city has made a host of friends, and he will be missed, both in the public and private life of Kingston.

His Resignation.

Mr. Canfield today filed his resignation with Mayor Canfield. It reads as follows:

July, 1918.

Hon Palmer Canfield, Jr., Mayor of Kingston, Kingston, New York.

Dear Sir:—Having accepted the position of executive secretary of the newly organized Chamber of Commerce, Saratoga Springs, I hereby tender you my resignation as treasurer of the city of Kingston, to take effect August first.

While I regret leaving Kingston before the expiration of my term of office, the opportunities for community service and other inducements offered are such that I could not conscientiously refuse the unanimous call extended to me by the directors of the Saratoga organization.

Appreciating fully your confidence and consideration in appointing me to this office, the duties of which I have thoroughly enjoyed, I beg to remain, with very best wishes for the continued success of your administration and the prosperity of the Colonial City.

Very truly yours,
JAMES E. CANFIELD.

City Treasurer Pardee.

While Kingston is losing a good man as its city treasurer, Mayor Canfield's appointment of Addison D. Pardee, of the Pardee Insurance Agency will meet with the approval of every taxpayer in the city.

Mr. Pardee served as secretary of the old board of trade when the office was unsalaried and performed a large amount of useful work with that organization which later was merged into the present Chamber of Commerce and the office of secretary made a salaried one.

He is a man who has always taken an interest in the civic life of the city, is practical, and well fitted to assume the duties of city treasurer.

Mr. Pardee will assume his duties as city treasurer the first of August.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

M. T. DeWitt's Barn at Hurley Damaged By Bolt Friday Night.

During the severe storm of Friday night the barn of M. T. DeWitt at Hurley was struck by lightning. The damage was not heavy. The bolt struck the roof, knocked a window out of the cupola, ran down the side of the building, ripping off several boards, and then went into the ground. The bolt grazed two loads of hay [illegible] setting them on fire. There were horses in the barn, but they were not injured.

Farewell Dance for Boys.

A committee of down town young Jewish women are working and planning to tender the seventeen or more Jewish boys who entrain Thursday morning for Camp Dix, a farewell dance and reception at Kingston Point Tuesday evening

THE PARADE ORDERS FOR NEXT THURSDAY

Are Issued by Grand Marshal Atkins---Will Start at 7:15 a. m.---Let's Honor the 374 Men Going to War by the Biggest Demonstration and Parade Held Yet.

Grand Marshal Atkins has issued his general orders for the big parade and demonstration to be held on the morning of July 25th in honor of the 374 of Ulster's sons who entrain that day for Camp Dix, N. J.

Because of the early hour that the men are to entrain, the parade will start earlier than on former occasions. The men leave here on a special 8:05 West Shore train.

The parade will form on Main, Fair and Wall streets, at 6:55 fifteen minutes later the fire bell will strike five times, the signal for the various organizations to be ready. Five minutes later, at 7:15 the fire bell will strike again five times, the signal for the parade to start.

The line of march will be the same as on other occasions, from the Burgevin building on Main street, to Clinton avenue, to Albany avenue, to Broadway, to Railroad avenue, to West Shore depot.

This ought to be the largest parade yet. Nearly 400 of Ulster's sons are going to war in the same spirit of patriotism and sacrifice shown by the other selective men who entrained on previous occasions.

There should be a large turnout from the county as well as from the city, with plenty of music. Why not a big division of laboring men, in their work clothes? How about the fire department?

There is still nearly a week left in which to make further preparations to give the men a rousing sendoff, a big demonstration that will cause them to realize that Ulster is proud of her sons.

Grand Marshal Atkins will be glad to hear from other organizations wanting to march, and if they will notify him he will assign them a place in the formation.

Let's get busy and give these men a parade and demonstration on an extensive scale.

The grand marshal's orders are as follows:

Kingston, N. Y., July 20, 1918.

Headquarters of the Grand Marshal.

The following orders for the parade in honor of the conscripts who will entrain at the West Shore station at 8:05 o'clock Thursday, July 25th, 1918, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

1. Each organization will be at the place designated for formation at 6:55 a. m., July 25th, 1918. The headquarters of the grand marshal will be at the Burgevin Building, corner Main and Fair streets.

2. The line of march will be from the Burgevin Building on Main street to Clinton avenue, to Albany avenue, to Broadway, to Railroad avenue, to West Shore depot, where the command will be dismissed.

FORMER CZAR SHOT ON JULY 16

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 20.—The former Czar of Russia was shot on July 16, according to a Russian wireless dispatch received here this afternoon. The advices stated that the council in control of the Ural region passed sentence on the former Czar and that it was carried out on the date set.

CAPTAIN SAYS SAN DIEGO TORPEDOED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 20.—The captain of the United States armored cruiser San Diego believes that his vessel was torpedoed by a German submarine when it was sunk south of Fire Island, near New York, yesterday.

He has officially reported to the navy authorities his belief. However, the navy department officials here are inclined to believe that a floating mine, either one of the harbor defense scheme which broke away from its anchorage, or one of those known to have been strewn along the coast by the German submarines who were here six weeks ago, was responsible. They base this belief on the following conclusions:

"No torpedo wake was seen. There is no conclusive evidence that a periscope was seen. No submarine appeared on the surface despite the fact that there were three unarmed rescue ships on watch in the vicinity for more than two hours after the San Diego explosion took place.

"The vessel was struck on the port side, abaft the beam. This, however, discourages somewhat the theory she was struck by a mine. The weather was fine and there was a smooth sea."

There may have been some lives lost by the explosion but it would be unable to determine this for some time. The muster rolls of the cruiser sank with her. Duplicate rolls were at Portsmouth, N. H., and they are now being rushed to this city by special messenger. Until they arrive and are checked by the list of survivors it will be unable to tell there was actually any loss of life at all.

LIGHTNING STRUCK BARN.

Fire Department Called Out By Two Fires Friday.

During the severe electrical storm Friday evening a bolt of lightning struck the barn on Flatbush avenue, owned by Louis Bruder. An alarm of fire was turned in at 9:15 o'clock from Box 112. The barn was destroyed, but an auto, a horse and cow in the barn were saved.

Earlier in the evening at 8:05 o'clock an alarm was rung in from Box 73. A curtain in the house of Mrs. Emma Rose, in the apartment occupied by Joseph Netburn at 100 Henry street, had caught fire from a lighted candle. The damage was slight.

FRENCH AND U. S. TROOPS STILL DRIVING ONWARD

No Diminishing of Vigor of Their Offensive Against the Germans---Even German Reserves Fail to Stop the Advance---Extending Line by Pressure Against the Enemy.

There has been no diminishing in the vigor of the French and American counter offensive between the Aisne and Marne rivers and even the presence of German reserves has not enabled the Teutons to stem the Allied advance.

During the night French and Americans kept up their assaults over the greater part of the front, making an appreciable gain in the center where they took Neuilly St. Front, on the junction of important roadways leading to Outchy Le Chatean.

The pressure of the Allied counter drive has been extended to the western wing of the German front south of the Marne river and the French have pressed back the Teutons between Fossey and Oiuelly.

(This is to the east of the zone where the all-American force threw the Germans back to the northern bank of the Marne between Fossey and the Surmelin valley.)

Soissons was unofficially reported in Paris to have fallen, but there has been no official confirmation. A cablegram from Henry G. Wales, International News Service staff correspondent, with the American army on the Aisne-Marne front, filed at 8:15 o'clock this morning, made no mention of the recapture of Soissons by the Franco-American forces.

The number of prisoners is growing and it is unofficially announced that they now total nearly 20,000.

So far the Allies have made one of the biggest hauls of Germans since the war.

Both armies claim the capture of 20,000 prisoners, but this is supposed to be an over-estimation. In the Champagne district the French have fought their way back to the old line they occupied a week ago.

Minor operations by the British are taking on an extension of strength.

Metern, on the Flanders front, was recaptured by the British yesterday and the raiding paries are giving the Germans no rest anywhere.

FRENCH CAPTURE KEY TO SOISSONS

German Attacks Repulsed And Commanding Positions Captured by the French, Who Are Now Close to Soissons.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 20—(2:20 p. m.)—The captured ground in the latest Franco-American attack in the Aisne Marne district, includes nine villages.

In a counter attack by the French in the Soissons district, Monte de Paris, one of the most important heights dominating the Soissons country, was captured.

Another advance was made to a line embracing Ville Montoire, Perqy and Tigny. The former is five miles directly south of Soissons and the latter are neighboring villages seven and one-half miles south of Soissons. Heavy enemy attacks southwest of Soissons were repulsed by the French who counter attacked and gained considerable ground. The French are now close to Soissons. Along the main road leading to Chateau Thierry there was bitter fighting yesterday. East of Perunay there is little change.

FAIR FOR RED CROSS AND CHARITY

This evening the always-helpful members at the "Lend-a-Hand" Society of the Dr. C. O. Sahler Sanitarium will hold a fair at the Sanitarium, the proceeds to be divided between the local Red Cross, Industrial Home, and other needs in the city, of which during these war times there are so many. There will be handsome, artistic and useful fancy articles for sale at most reasonable prices. A fortune teller will forecast coming events for all who visit her, while a big Grab Bag will furnish the usual amusement in its clever contents. One of the special features of this fair will be the sale of flowers, nosegays, bouquets of beautiful sweet peas, etc. During the evening there will be dancing, and refreshments will be served. Kingston folk, and those in town for the week end are cordially invited to attend the fair and thus extend the helpfulness of the "Lend-a-Hand" Society.

BIG PICNIC FRIDAY.

Three Church Sunday Schools Held Union Outing at Forsyth Park.

The Sunday schools of the Fair Street Reformed, the First Reformed and St. James's M. E. Churches held a union picnic and outing at Forsyth Park all day Friday. The affair was largely attended and a pleasant time enjoyed. Box luncheons were brought, and ice cream, cake, etc., served. Games were played and there were a number of athletic contests. Music was furnished by the Colonial City Band.

SCENES OF HORROR ON BATTLE FIELD

Ghastly and Hideous Sights on Field From Which Germans Were Driven Viewed and Described by War Correspondent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With the Americans on the Aisne-Marne Battle Front, July 19 (Night)—The battlefield over which the French and American forces began their big counter offensive between the Aisne and Marne rivers presents a scene of frightful carnage.

Correspondents were allowed today to visit the newly captured terrain, reaching the scene even before all the dead had been buried. Searching parties were still combing the wheat fields seeking wounded.

Whenever a corpse was found the bayonet of a rifle was stuck into the ground with the butt showing above the grain, giving a signal to the grave diggers where work was to be done.

Many of the corpses were hideously contorted, lying in all kinds of grotesque positions amidst the shell torn ground. Already the hot summer air had begun to swarm with miriads of green flies. German equipment littered the fields and disabled tanks were strewed about like lighthouses. They had been knocked out by Krupp guns.

Sprawled amidst the battered gun emplacements were the carcases of horses, their legs sticking stiffly into the air.

Wrecked wagons and carts covered the plain. There was mute evidence of the struggles where German machine gunners had tried to stand out against the advancing hosts. We saw bodies of attacking troops lying with their faces towards the German lines, just as they pitched headlong while charging the machine gun emplacements.

A sunken road was filled with German corpses. These fellows had been caught under an invading fire when the allied gunners worked their pieces into a position to mow them down.

Amidst these ghastly scenes the troops worked, unmindful of the grewsome pictures about them, bringing up ammunition and supplies and organizing reserve defences, while batteries were dashing up to support the infantry. The correspondents during the afternoon reached a spot on the Paris-Soissons highway exactly where a battery of Krupp field guns had previously been emplaced. Just as we arrived allied artillery was making preparation for a new attack. We could see the fine work of destruction that was being carried on but the yellow and black smoke fumes and the clouds of dust soon blotted out the scene.

Thin black clouds of smoke rolled slowly upward denoting bursting shrapnel.

Then a creeping barrage rolled forward over the summit of the heights east of Soissons and the highway as the storming columns leaped forward to the assault. Dimly and frequently we saw the shadowy forms of the doughboys advancing slowly—so slowly that it seemed like an assumed composure as they went into the inferno.

Then colored rockets shot up from the German trenches, as our preliminary gun fire had cut the

M. T. DeWitt's Barn at Hurley Damaged By Bolt Friday Night.

During the severe storm of Friday night the barn of M. T. DeWitt at Hurey was struck by lightning. The damage was not heavy. The bolt struck the roof, knocked a window out of the cupola, ran down the side of the building, ripping off several boards, and then went into the ground. The bolt grazed two loads of hay setting them on fire. There were horses in the barn, but they were not injured.

A committee of down town young Jewish women are working and planning to tender the seventeen or more Jewish boys who entrain Thursday morning for Camp Dix, a farewell dance nd reception at Kingston Point Tuesday evening

THE PARADE ORDERS FOR NEXT THURSDAY

Are Issued by Grand Marshal Atkins---Will Start at 7:15 a. m.---Let's Honor the 374 Men Going to War by the Biggest Demonstration and Parade Held Yet.

Grand Marshal Atkins has issued his general orders for the big parade and demonstration to be held on the morning of July 25th in honor of the 374 of Ulster's sons who entrain that day for Camp Dix, N. J.

Because of the early hour that the men are to entrain, the parade will start earlier than on former occasions. The men leave here on a special 8:05 West Shore train.

The parade will form on Main, Fair and Wall streets, at 6:55 fifteen minutes later the fire bell will strike five times, the signal for the various organizations to be ready. Five minutes later, at 7:15 the fire bell will strike again five times, the signal for the parade to start

The line of march will be the same as on other occasions, from the Burgevin building on Main street, to Clinton avenue, to Albany avenue, to Broadway, to Railroad avenue, to West Shore depot

This ought to be the largest parade yet. Nearly 400 of Ulster's sons are going to war in the same spirit of patriotism and sacrifice shown by the other selective men who entrained on previous occasions.

There should be a large turnout from the county as well as from the city, with plenty of music. Why not a big division of laboring men, in their work clothes? How about the fire department?

There is still nearly a week left in which to make further preparations to give the men a rousing sendoff, a big demonstration that will cause them to realize that Ulster is proud of her sons.

Grand Marshal Atkins will be glad to hear from other organizations wanting to march, and if they will notify him he will assign them a place in the formation.

Let's get busy and give these men a parade and demonstration on an extensive scale.

The grand marshal's orders are as follows:

Kingston, N. Y., July 20, 1918.
Headquarters of the Grand Marshal.

The following orders for the parade in honor of the conscripts who will entrain at the West Shore station at 8:05 o'clock Thursday, July 25th, 1918, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

1. Each organization will be at the place designated for formation at 6:55 a. m., July 25th, 1918. The headquarters of the grand marshal will be at the Burgevin Building, corner Main and Fair streets.

2. The line of march will be from the Burgevin Building on Main street to Clinton avenue, to Albany avenue, to Broadway, to Railroad avenue, to West Shore depot, where the command will be dismissed.

FORMER CZAR SHOT ON JULY 16

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 20.—The former Czar of Russia was shot on July 16, according to a Russian wireless dispatch received here this afternoon. The advices stated that the council in control of the Ural region passed sentence on the former Czar and that it was carried out on the date set.

CAPTAIN SAYS SAN DIEGO TORPEDOED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 20.—The captain of the United States armored cruiser San Diego believes that his vessel was torpedoed by a German submarine when it was sunk south of Fire Island, near New York, yesterday.

He has officially reported to the navy authorities his belief. However, the navy department officials here are inclined to believe that a floating mine, either one of the harbor defense scheme which broke away from its anchorage, or one of those known to have been strewn along the coast by the German submarines who were here six weeks ago, was responsible. They base this belief on the following conclusions:

"No torpedo wake was seen. There is no conclusive evidence that a periscope was seen. No submarine appeared on the surface despite the fact that there were three unarmed rescue ships on watch in the vicinity for more than two hours after the San Diego explosion took place.

"The vessel was struck on the port side, abaft the beam. This, however, discourages somewhat the theory she was struck by a mine. The weather was fine and there was a smooth sea."

There may have been some lives lost by the explosion but it would be unable to determine this for some time. The muster rolls of the cruiser sank with her. Duplicate rolls were at Portsmouth, N. H., and they are now being rushed to this city by special messenger. Until they arrive and are checked by the list of survivors it will be unable to tell there was actually any loss of life at all.

LIGHTNING STRUCK BARN.

Fire Department Called Out By Two Fires Friday.

During the severe electrical storm Friday evening a bolt of lightning struck the barn on Flatbush avenue, owned by Louis Bruder An alarm of fire was turned in at 9:15 o'clock from Box 112. The barn was destroyed, but an auto, a horse and cow in the barn were saved.

Earlier in the evening at 8:05 o'clock an alarm was rung in from Box 73. A curtain in the house of Mrs. Emma Rose, in the apartment occupied by Joseph Netburn at 100 Henry street, had caught fire from a lighted candle. The damage was slight.

FRENCH AND U. S. TROOPS STILL DRIVING ONWARD

No Diminishing of Vigor of Their Offensive Against the Germans---Even German Reserves Fail to Stop the Advance ---Extending Line by Pressure Against the Enemy.

There has been no diminshing in the vigor of the French and American counter offensive between the Aisne and Marne rivers and even the presence of German reserves has not enabled the Teutons to stem the Allied advance.

During the night French and Americans kept up their assaults over the greater part of the front, making an appreciable gain in the center where they took Neuilly St. Front, on the junction of important roadways leading to Outchy Le Chateau.

The pressure of the Allied counter drive has been extended to the western wing of the German front south of the Marne river and the French have pressed back the Teutons between Fossey and Oiuelly.

(This is to the east of the zone where the all-American force threw the Germans back to the northern bank of the Marne between Fossey and the Surmelin valley.)

Soissons was unofficially reported in Paris to have fallen, but there has been no official confirmation. A cablegram from Henry G. Wales, International News Service staff correspondent, with the American army on the Aisne-Marne front, filed at 8:15 o'clock this morning, made no mention of the recapture of Soissons by the Franco-American forces.

The number of prisoners is growing and it is unofficially announced that they now total nearly 20,000.

So far the Allies have made one of the biggest hauls of Germans since the war.

Both armies claim the capture of 20,000 prisoners, but this is supposed to be an over-estimation. In the Champagne district the French have fought their way back to the old line they occupied a week ago.

Minor operations by the British are taking on an extension of strength.

Metern, on the Flanders front, was recaptured by the British yesterday and the raiding paries are giving the Germans no rest anywhere.

FRENCH CAPTURE KEY TO SOISSONS

German Attacks Repulsed And Commanding Positions Captured by the French, Who Are Now Close to Soissons.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 20—(2:20 p. m.)—The captured ground in the latest Franco-American attack in the Aisne Marne district, includes nine villages.

In a counter attack by the French in the Soissons district, Monte De Paris, one of the most important heights dominating the Soissons country, was captured.

Another advance was made to a line embracing Ville Montoire, Perqy and Tigny. The former is five miles directly south of Soissons and the latter are neighboring villages seven and one-half miles south of Soissons. Heavy enemy attacks southwest of Soissons were repulsed by the French who counter attacked and gained considerable ground. The French are now close to Soissons. Along the main road leading to Chateau Thierry there was bitter fighting yesterday. East of Perunay there is little change.

FAIR FOR RED CROSS AND CHARITY

This evening the always-helpful members at the "'Lend-a-Hand" Society of the Dr. C. O. Sahler Sanitarium will hold a fair at the Sanitarium, the proceeds to be divided between the local Red Cross, Industrial Home, and other needs in the city, of which during these war times there are so many. There will be handsome, artistic and useful fancy artcles for sale at most reasonable prces. A fortune teller will forecast coming events for all who visit her, while a big Grab Bag will furnsh the usual amusement in its clever contents. One of the special features of this fair will be the sale of flowers, nosegays, bouquets of beautiful sweet peas, etc. During the evening there will be dancing, and refreshments will be served. Kingston folk, and those in town for the week end are cordially invited to attend the fair and thus extend the helpfulness of the "Lend-a-Hand" Society.

BIG PICNIC FRIDAY.

Three Church Sunday Schools Held Union Outing at Forsyth Park.

The Sunday schools of the Fair Street Reformed, the First Reformed and St. James's M. E. Churches held a union picnic and outing at Forsyth Park all day Friday. The affair was largely attended and a pleasant time enjoyed. Box luncheons were brought, and ice cream, cake, etc., served. Games were played and there were a number of athletic contests. Music was furnished by the Colonial City Band.

SCENES OF HORROR ON BATTLE FIELD

Ghastly and Hideous Sights on Field From Which Germans Were Driven Viewed and Described by a War Correspondent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With the Americans on the Aisne-Marne Battle Front, July 19 (Night)—The battlefield over which the French and American forces began their big counter offensive between the Aisne and Marne rivers presents a scene of frightful carnage.

Correspondents were allowed today to visit the newly captured terrain, reaching the scene even before all the dead had been buried. Searching parties were still combing the wheat fields seeking wounded.

Whenever a corpse was found the bayonet of a rifle was stuck into the ground with the butt showing above the grain, giving a signal to the grave diggers where work was to be done.

Many of the corpses were hideously contorted, lying in all kinds of grotesque positions amidst the shell torn ground. Already the hot summer air had begun to swarm with miriads of green flies. German equipment littered the fields and disabled tanks were strewed about like lighthouses. They had been knocked out by Krupp guns.

Sprawled amidst the battered gun emplacements were the carcases of horses, their legs sticking stiffly into the air.

Wrecked wagons and carts covered the plain. There was mute evidence of the struggles where German machine gunners had tried to stand out against the advancing hosts. We saw bodies of attacking troops lying with their faces towards the German lines, just as they pitched headlong while charging the machine gun emplacements.

A sunken road was filled with German corpses. These fellows had been caught under an invading fire when the allied gunners worked their pieces into a position to mow them down.

Amidst these ghastly scenes the troops worked, unmindful of the grewsome pictures about them, bringing up ammunition and supplies and organizing reserve defences, while batteries were dashing up to support the infantry. The correspondents during the afternoon reached a spot on the Paris-Soissons highway exactly where a battery of Krupp field guns had previously been emplaced. Just as we arrived allied artillery was making preparation for a new attack. We could see the fine work of destruction that was being carried on but the yellow and black smoke fumes and the clouds of dust soon blotted out the scene.

Thin black clouds of smoke rolled slowly upward denoting bursting shrapnel.

Then a creeping barrage rolled forward over the summit of the heights east of Soissons and the highway as the storming columns leaped forward to the assault. Dimly and frequently we saw the shadowy forms of the doughboys advancing slowly—so slowly that it seemed like an assumed composure as they went into the inferno.

Then colored rockets shot up from the German trenches, as our preliminary gun fire had cut the

MARY POWELL WILL NOT RUN THIS YEAR

Indications Seem to Point to Fact That Queen of Hudson Will Not Be Placed in Commission—Old Days Recalled.

The Mary Powell, Queen of Hudson, is still berthed at the Sunflower Dock in the Rondout creek, where she has spent the winter, and indications seem to point to the fact that she will not be placed in commission this season. There was a rumor at one time that the old Queen would be taken over by the government for use in New York Bay, but it was only a rumor.

With the Powell off the route and the Day Line allowed to use only a certain percentage of coal this season there has been no boat placed on the Rondout-New York route. In fact the Day Line announced some time ago that there would be no early morning boat out of Rondout for New York, and gave as the reason that they were not allowed to use as much coal as in previous seasons to run the boats of the Line.

This early morning boat to New York is missed by many who used to enjoy a sail down the Hudson to the big city and return. In fact the traffic grew to such an extent that the Powell was taken off the route and the Albany substituted in her place during the heaviest months of travel, while the old Queen was used more as an excursion boat.

The fact that the Sunflower Dock, where the Powell is now berthed, is directly opposite the old stone dock in Ponckhockie revives memories of by gone days among those who in times past went to New York by way of the Powell.

In the old days the Powell berthed at the stone dock and pulled out each morning in the week, with the exception of Sunday. This necessitated the family who intended making the trip on the Powell to arise early in the morning.

"Dad" and "Ma" would arise as early as 4 o'clock in the morning to prepare breakfast and put up a lunch and then wake the kiddies and get them dressed in time to catch Mat Perrine's stage and get to the stone dock in time before the Powell left for down the river.

As time passed on the Powell stopped berthing at the stone dock and berthed at the present Mary Powell dock at the foot of Broadway. Still later the time of leaving was changed from 6 to 7 o'clock which made it easier for "Dad" and "Ma" to awake in time and get the family dressed and down to the boat.

During her long career as a passenger boat the Powell has become known the whole world over and many are the distinguished people she has carried as passengers aboard her.

The old Queen long mentained her title as the fastest boat on the Hudson until the Hudson River Day Line placed in commission its present palatial steamers. Boats may come and boats may go but the Mary Powell will live in the memory of those who travel by river.

DARLING IN FRANCE.

Handling Rations for Regiment Keeps Him Busy.

Gladys J. Markle of Olive Bridge, N. Y., has received the following letter from her uncle in France:

Somewhere in France.
July, 1918.

Dear Gladys:

I know you are anxiously looking for a letter from me, but cannot write often as I am so busy that I have to write my letters a short bit at a time whenever I can.

I have the handling of all the rations for my regiment so it's quite a job and keeps me busy most of the time.

The country is very beautiful over here and the crops and gardens are very good.

I am still on top of the ground and hope to stay so.

How are all the people getting along up your way? Give my best regards to them all.

I cannot write very much as there is not much to write about, so guess I will have to close for this time, hoping to hear from you soon with a good long letter. Well, will have to close.

From your uncle,
JACK.

"TREATING FUND" STEADILY GROWS

Alderman Ralph Mann stated late Friday afternoon that he had received word from three more desiring to contribute to the "treating fund" for our boys who will entrain Thursday morning for Camp Dix. The additional contributors to the fund are; Van Slyke & Horton, cigars; B. J. Donovan, cigars, and Mine Host Pessenar of the West Shore Hotel, cigars.

From all indications the boys will have to appoint a store committee to look after the many gifts of fruit, candy and smokes that will be given them that morning. The boys will remain in camp for some time, however, and none of the gifts will be wasted. What they don't smoke and eat on the train will come in mighty handy when they return to the barracks after drill.

If there are any additional contributors to the "treating fund" they should notify Alderman Mann at the earliest possible moment.

It might not be amiss also to call attention to the fact that our boys will entrain an hour earlier than usual; the special train pulling out at 8:05 o'clock instead of 9 o'clock as in the past. This means, of course that the parade will start at 7:30 instead of 8:30 o'clock.

GOOD THINGS WORTH TRYING.

Peanut butter is such an appetizing food and combines with many dishes, affording a variety.

Apple Peanut Salad.—Pare, core and chop slightly acid apples and mix them with half as much chopped celery. Mix a dressing of peanut butter using one tablespoonful of lemon juice to five of peanut butter, season well with salt and cayenne and serve with lettuce garnished with peanuts.

Apple Chicken Salad.—Scoop out the centers of six fine apples, fill them with cooked minced chicken seasoned with green pepper finely chopped, salt to taste and cream to moisten. Place the apples in a steamer and cook until almost tender. Place on ice and serve with mayonnaise.

Cream Salad Dressing.—Cook a third of a cupful of cream, two slightly beaten egg yolks, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and the same of lemon juice in a double boiler until thick as a soft custard. Add salt and cayenne and strain.

Poached Eggs in Soup.—Butter a deep pie plate of pyrex, then sprinkle over the bottom a half cupful of fine bread crumbs. To a can of mock turtle soup, add three tablespoonfuls of water, boiling hot, mix well and pour carefully over the crumbs. Set the dish into the oven and when bubbling hot, take it out and break into it as many eggs as there are persons to serve, being careful to keep the yolks from breaking. Sift over the eggs a layer of buttered crumbs and put into the oven to bake until the eggs are set. Serve this from the dish in which it was baked.

Mexican Rabbit.—Melt a tablespoonful of butter and cook in it a green pepper cut in bits. When softened add a pound of good cheese, cut fine, and stir until melted. Add two-thirds of a cupful of canned corn pulp, a half teaspoonful of paprika, the same of salt, two eggs beaten light, two-thirds of a cupful of chopped tomato, stir and cook until well blended. Serve on crackers.

MARY POWELL WILL NOT RUN THIS YEAR

Indications Seem to Point to Fact That Queen of Hudson Will Not Be Placed in Commission—Old Days Recalled.

The Mary Powell, Queen of Hudson, is still berthed at the Sunflower Dock in the Rondout creek, where she has spent the winter, and indications seem to point to the fact that she will not be placed in commission this season. There was a rumor at one time that the old Queen would be taken over by the government for use in New York Bay, but it was only a rumor.

With the Powell off the route and the Day Line allowed to use only a certain percentage of coal this season there has been no boat placed on the Rondout-New York route. In fact the Day Line announced some time ago that there would be no early morning boat out of Rondout for New York, and gave as the reason that they were not allowed to use as much coal as in previous seasons to run the boats of the Line.

This early morning boat to New York is missed by many who used to enjoy a sail down the Hudson to the big city and return. In fact the traffic grew to such an extent that the Powell was taken off the route and the Albany substituted in her place during the heaviest months of travel, while the old Queen was used more as an excursion boat.

The fact that the Sunflower Dock, where the Powell is now berthed, is directly opposite the old stone dock in Ponckhockie revives memories of by gone days among those who in times past went to New York by way of the Powell.

In the old days the Powell berthed at the stone dock and pulled out each morning in the week, with the exception of Sunday. This necessitated the family who intended making the trip on the Powell to arise early in the morning.

"Dad" and "Ma" would arise as early as 4 o'clock in the morning to prepare breakfast and put up a lunch and then wake the kiddies and get them dressed in time to catch Mat Perrine's stage and get to the stone dock in time before the Powell left for down the river.

As time passed on the Powell stopped berthing at the stone dock and berthed at the present Mary Powell dock at the foot of Broadway. Still later the time of leaving was changed from 6 to 7 o'clock which made it easier for "Dad' and "Ma" to awake in time and get the family dressed and down to the boat.

During her long career as a passenger boat the Powell has become known the whole world over and many are the distinguished people she has carried as passengers aboard her.

The old Queen long mentained her title as the fastest boat on the Hudson until the Hudson River Day Line placed in commission its present palatial steamers. Boats may come and boats may go but the Mary Powell will live in the memory of those who travel by river.

DARLING IN FRANCE.

Handling Rations for Regiment Keeps Him Busy.

Gladys J. Markle of Olive Bridge, N. Y., has received the following letter from her uncle in France:

Somewhere in France,
July, 1918.

Dear Gladys:

I know you are anxiously looking for a letter from me, but cannot write often as I am so busy that I have to write my letters a short bit at a time whenever I can.

I have the handling of all the rations for my regiment so it's quite a job and keeps me busy most of the time.

The country is very beautiful over here and the crops and gardens are very good.

I am still on top of the ground and hope to stay so.

How are all the people getting along up your way? Give my best regards to them all.

I cannot write very much as there is not much to write about, so guess I will have to close for this time, hoping to hear from you soon with a good long letter. Well, will have to close.

From your uncle,
JACK.

"TREATING FUND" STEADILY GROWS

Alderman Ralph Mann stated late Friday afternoon that he had received word from three more desiring to contribute to the "treating fund" for our boys who will entrain Thursday morning for Camp Dix. The additional contributors to the fund are; Van Slyke & Horton, cigars; B. J. Donovan, cigars, and Mine Host Pessenar of the West Shore Hotel, cigars.

From all indications the boys will have to appoint a store committee to look after the many gifts of fruit, candy and smokes that will be given them that morning. The boys will remain in camp for some time, however, and none of the gifts will be wasted. What they don't smoke and eat on the train will come in mighty handy when they return to the barracks after drill.

If there are any additional contributors to the "treating fund" they should notify Alderman Mann at the earliest possible moment.

It might not be amiss also to call attention to the fact that our boys will entrain an hour earlier than usual; the special train pulling out at 8:05 o'clock instead of 9 o'clock as in the past. This means, of course that the parade will start at 7:30 instead of 8:30 o'clock.

NO DUSTOLINE ON CITY STREETS

The board of public works received word this morning from the United States highway council at Washington that its application for 40,000 gallons of dustoline to be laid on the city's streets has been denied. Under a new ruling of the war department no oil for city streets is allowed to be delivered without first being released by the highway council.

The communication received this morning stated that it had received the application under date of June 13 of this year for delivery of 40,000 gallons of dustoline and 10,000 gallons of Tarvia B to be used in maintenance of waterbound streets in Kingston. Permission for the release of Tarvia B was issued July 12, but the council has declined to grant favorable recommendation for the release of the dustoline and is of the opinion that favorable recommendation for application for release of material to be used as dust preventatives should not be granted until a more plentiful supply of material became available.

This practically means that but few of the city streets will be oiled this summer.

TREE EXPERT WILL BE IN CITY SOON

And Will Confer With Board of Public Works—Alderman Roosa Wants Willite on Broadway—Playgrounds Well Attended.

Professor Cox, the tree expert from the state department, who made an examination of the trees in the city earlier in the year, wrote the board of public works that he expected to be in Kingston the first week in August to confer with the board with regard to the tree situation in the city.

Alderman Roosa of the Second ward appeared in person before the board which met in monthly session Friday afternon and suggested that Willite be laid on top of the brick on one side of Broadway between Cornell and O'Neil streets. He thought that the brick should be taken up, the sand cushion removed, brick relaid on concrete and topdressed with Willite. He was informed that the board has had the matter under consideration for over a year, but that nothing would be done for the present. The alderman's suggestion was this be made a trial stretch of road to see how it would work out.

The board referred a claim from the McManus estate for storing the stone crusher on the property amounting to $140 to the superintendent

Director of Public Recreation A W Buley submitted a report of the first week of the work on the playgrounds this season and gave some interesting figures Last year at McVey's field the first week week's attendance was 1,300 against 6,153 of this season. at Forsyth Park last year $61 attended the Park against 1,553 this year, while at the kindergarten centers last year for the first week there was an attendance of 432 against 1,415 this season The first week's attendance last year totalled 2,603 against 9,121 this year, which was more than the first three weeks of last year when 7 810 took advantage of the facilities offered at the playgrounds

The board decided to have band concerts during the summer on Friday afternoons at McVey's Field from 2.30 to 4 30 o'clock. Additional benches will be installed on the field and a grand stand built for the band

City Engineer Codwise submitted plans for a sanitary and storm water sewer on Forhall avenue between Downs and O'Neil street. The plans were adopted

Several routine matters were taken before adjournments.

HELPING TO CONSERVE FOOD ORGANIZED RETAIL GROCERS AND BUTCHERS ONLY SURE PROTECTION FOR CONSUMERS

On the suggestion of the Food Administrator this association of Retail Grocers and Butchers now extends to retail dealers IN ALL TOWNS OF THE COUNTY the priceless benefits of membership.

Where is the retailer who will turn his deaf ear to this call for the personal co-operation of all retailers in conserving foods?

This is a CRY FOR HELP from the Consumers who wisely foresee that without the retailers prompt response a most serious situation in food supplies may come on.

The trade that has STUCK BY YOU, MR. RETAILER (in Ellenville, Ashokan and other towns) now demands that you reciprocate. You can't afford to ignore this demand. We in the city believe that we realized it none too soon; perhaps a little ahead of you. That is the reason why we organized.

NOW LISTEN.—

You pay back that debt, but not in dollars and cents. Simply in co-operating to help your trade in a critical period. You do this—

Not by sacrificing yourself, Mr. Retailer, nor you business!

By equipping yourself with the greatest efficiency within your reach.

Organized channels for food supplies to consumers, if you are a part of the organization means your personal efficiency.

By putting your time and money in the association, Mr. Retailer, you are accepted by the Government as its officially recognized agent, the strong arm that helps win the war.

It places you with your ears close to the Food Administrator. You will be one of us who hear first who see first, who are told first, who get in first. You know what that means to successful dealers.

Outside of the Association you are without these associated benefits. You leave your customers without a dependable service and they will soon realize it.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Thursday the biggest demonstration and parade ever held in Kingston will be tendered our boys who entrain for Camp Dix that morning, and that fact has led an old veteran to remark the fact that the residents of Kingston while patriotic to a high degree overlook one act of respect and courtesy, that must be due to an oversight more than anything else.

This oversight is the saluting of Old Glory when it passes by the crowds that line the sidewalk watching the boys march away. When Old Glory surrounded by a color guard of Company M boys passes in parade none of the men bare their heads and none of the women salute. The old vet has remarked this neglect in all parades in the past, and expresses the hope that Thursday those who line the sidewalks watching Kingston's finest escorted to the train will not forget to show Old Glory suitable respect when it is carried by them in the parade.

The daylight saving law has now been in effect for some time, and so accustomed has every one become to it that they have forgotten that all clocks and watches are set an hour fast. In fact so successful has the new law worked that many see no reason for turning back the hands of the clock the first of October, but would prefer to allow the clock time that now prevails to prevail then.

With the coming of some real warm weather and with daylight lasting until 9 o'clock each night, under the new time, it makes bathing a pleasure at Bath Beach and those who work during the day find they have ample time after supper in which to enjoy surf bathing Of course Bath Beach is also equipped with lighting facilities in case the daylight gives out before the bathers are ready to return home

There were no new cases of measles reported Friday to the health board.

The glanders situation in Kingston remains unchanged All public drinking fountains and horse sheds are now closed and will remain closed until all danger of an epidemic ceases.

NO ROOM TO PASS

So Charles Mutschler Ran His Auto Into Goldman's Auto.

This morning Morris Goldman left his auto standing near the curb in front of the store of Stock & Cordts on Broadway A little later Charles Mutschler of Brooklyn, drove his car up Broadway. At the same time a trolley car was on its way down the Broadway hill. There was not room enough to pass between the trolley car and the Goldman car so Mutschler's car ran into the Goldman auto damaging it somewhat The Mutschler car was also damaged and was taken into the Empire Garage across the street for repairs. As it was an accident no arrests were made.

NO DUSTOLINE ON CITY STREETS

The board of public works received word this morning from the United States highway council at Washington that its application for 40,000 gallons of dustoline to be laid on the city's streets has been denied. Under a new ruling of the war department no oil for city streets is allowed to be delivered without first being released by the highway council.

The communication received this morning stated that it had received the application under date of June 13 of this year for delivery of 40,000 gallons of dustoline and 10,000 gallons of Tarvia B to be used in maintenance of waterbound streets in Kingston. Permission for the release of Tarvia B was issued July 12, but the council has declined to grant favorable recommendation for the release of the dustoline and is of the opinion that favorable recommendation for application for release of material to be used as dust preventatives should not be granted until a more plentiful supply of material became available.

This practically means that but few of the city streets will be oiled this summer.

TREE EXPERT WILL BE IN CITY SOON

And Will Confer With Board of Public Works—Alderman Roosa Wants Willite on Broadway——Playgrounds Well Attended.

Professor Cox, the tree expert from the state department, who made an examination of the trees in the city earlier in the year, wrote the board of public works that he expected to be in Kingston the first week in August to confer with the board with regard to the tree situation in the city.

Alderman Roosa of the Second ward appeared in person before the board which met in monthly session Friday afternon and suggested that Willite be laid on top of the brick on one side of Broadway between Cornell and O'Neil streets. He thought that the brick should be taken up, the sand cushion removed, brick relaid on concrete and topdressed with Willite. He was informed that the board has had the matter under consideration for over a year, but that nothing would be done for the present. The alderman's suggestion was this be made a trial stretch of road to see how it would work out.

The board referred a claim from the McManus estate for storing the stone crusher on the property amounting to $140 to the superintendent.

Director of Public Recreation A. W. Buley submitted a report of the first week of the work on the playgrounds this season, and gave some interesting figures Last year at McVey's field the first week week's attendance was 1,300 against 6,153 of this season: at Forsyth Park last year 861 attended the Park against 1,553 this year, while at the kindergarten centers last year for the first week there was an attendance of 432 against 1,415 this season. The first week's attendance last year totalled 2,603 against 9,121 this year, which was more than the first three weeks of last year when 7,810 took advantage of the facilities offered at the playgrounds.

The board decided to have band concerts during the summer on Friday afternoons at McVey's Field from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock. Additional benches will be installed on the field and a grand stand built for the band.

City Engineer Codwise submitted plans for a sanitary and storm water sewer on Foxhall avenue between Downs and O'Neil street. The plans were adopted.

Several routine matters were taken before adjournments.

HELPING TO CONSERVE FOOD ORGANIZED RETAIL GROCERS AND BUTCHERS ONLY SURE PROTECTION FOR CONSUMERS

CAPTIVE AMERICANS.

It is gratifying to learn from Teutonic sources that American prisoners in Germany are much more discreet than are the prisoners taken by Pershing and our Allies It is reported through Switzerland that General Ludendorff has issued orders complaining of the amount of military information the Allies get from German prisoners and the paucity of information acquired from Allied prisoners. He is amazed that the Allies can learn so much from German prisoners and from note-books or letters found on the German dead. He appeals to his soldiers not to imperil hundreds of lives by ready talk when they are captured, forgetting that the persistent Prussian lie that the Allies murder all their prisoners has the boomerang effect of loosening the tongues of questioned German captives who fear execution if they do not speak freely.

American prisoners in Germany, on the other hand, are as close-mouthed as possible and give no desired information. This appears from the official report of a German examining officer which fell into the hands of our army. This document indicates great discretion on the part of captured American officers and men who seem to manage to convey the impression that they know practically nothing of Pershing's plans. While complaining of this ignorance, the examining officer's report speaks of the "alert and pleasing appearance" of the American prisoners, admits their soldierly qualities and says that the members of the second American division "at present lack only necessary training to make them redoubtable opponents."

In the "Fight and Pray" appeal of the three American cardinals to the people of their church is the following vigorous sentiment: "If we fight like heroes and pray like saints, soon will America overcome mere force by greater force and conquer lust of power by the nobler power of sacrifice and faith." Catholics are asked to pray three times a day "for the guidance of our rulers, the success of our arms, the unity of nations and the welfare of heroes."

The Huns have no better sense than to drop propaganda literature from aeroplanes into the American lines, imagining that it will pay them to tell intelligent young soldiers from the United States such tales as that President Wilson is a wicked anglomaniac, that London has been destroyed by Zeppelins, that the Germans have won everywhere, and the like

---

Why not a Joan of Arc statue in Washington? We should have done well in the first place to set up a monument there in honor of the brave inspired French girl who saved her country instead of accepting the offered statue of Frederick the Great who, like the present Kaiser, was disposed to "save" and serve Germany by brutally treading down other countries

---

One reason why Senator John Sharp Williams is so withering in his ridicule of the German's "superman" notion is that during the Mississippian's student days at Heidelburg he once surprised a German office nearly to death when he responded to an order to get off a sidewalk by tripping the uniformed bully into a snowdrift.

A German war historian complains of the "unbearable British yoke" worn by Scotland, but omits to mention the fact that the Scots in their kilts are fighting for their Britain with such fury that the staggered Huns have nicknamed them "Ladies from Hell."

Birmingham, Ala., is to revive the old-time pillory as a fit punishment for "slackers, pro-Germans, profiteers, utterers of sedition and loafers." Delaware does not need to revive her whipping post in order to employ it to the same purpose.

The Americans troops charged with the Australians at Hammel showing "Lusitania." The Germans are likely to curse the name and the memory of the deed long before they hear the last of it.

We may readily credit the report that a serious disease has developed in Germany due to the lack of soap, civilization's chief safe-guard against encroaching germs.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Why do they call these aviators aces?" "Because they generally take the trick."—Baltimore American.

"You poor little boy! You are always starved, aren't you?" "Oh, no, ma'am! Just after my meals I'm only just hungry."—Life.

He—"The fools are not all dead yet," She—"That's as sure as you live."—Boston Transcript

Bacon—"They say that the life of a piano is about twelve years." Egbert—"Yes, but I know people who try to knock the life out of one in a good deal less time than that!"—Yonkers Statesman.

"What is your idea of the difference between a patriot and a politician?" "A patriot," replied Senator Sorghum, "is reverently grateful for all his country does for him. A politician brags about what he is going to do for his country."—Washington Star.

The Missing Letters.

After considerable trouble the inhabitants of a certain small village were given a post office. At first their pride in the acquisition was unbounded. Then complaints began to come in that letters were not being sent off properly. The post office department accordingly ordered an inspector to look into the matter.

"What becomes of the letters posted here?" he asked the postmaster, who was also the grocer. "The people say that they are not sent off."

"Course they ain't!" snorted the old man angrily as he pointed to a large and nearly empty mail bag hanging in the corner. "I haven't sent it off because it ain't anywhere near full yet."—Exchange.

A Long Way From Paris.

A troop train rolled into Newark recently. A black soldier stuck his head out the window and yelled to the baggageman:

"What city is this?"

"Newark."

"What state am it in?"

"New Jersey."

"New Jersey! Say, we been on dis train foh days. When do we get to Paris?"—New York Herald.

A Receipt for Hash.

The Naval Athletic Association at Key West publishes an interesting journal called Camouflage, from which we extract this bit of conversation that throws a flood of light on camp cookery:

Seaman—Is that hash they have so often at mess hard to make?

Mess Attendant—Well, you see, they don't really make it; it accumulates.

Foiled.

"Did you post my letter, Mary?" asked her mistress "It was an important one, you know."

"Yis, mum, indeed I did."

"But why have you brought back the money I gave you for a stamp?"

"Sure I didn't have to use it, mum," replied Mary "I slipped th' letter into th' box whin nobody was lukin.'"—Exchange.

Agricultural School Notes.

The Delhi Agricultural School is not closed Its faculty are supervising the summer work of over three hundred boys and girls who are doing good service on the farm homes during the summer. It is the headquarters of the inspectors of the 65 farm cadets who have gone out through the school It is directing the emergency workers who are going out from the offices and shops for certain days of the week into the hayfields It is inspecting and testing the herds of several farmers in Delaware and Broome counties. Its faculty are helping do the haying upon the state farm It is co-operating to make the Delhi fair the best ever. It is attempting to boost the Delaware County Jersey Improvement Association, yet the director is not too busy to endeavor to aid in any way possible the farm affairs of the community. Call or write the Agricultural School An Empire milking machine is being installed in the new barn. Boys and girls will do well to consult the director regarding the new course of study which gives credit for work done on the home farm. The new course will give practice and skill, at the same time that it is offering American culture and profit.

What She Wanted.

"My ideal husband," said the girl who had been reading cheap novels, "must be a strong, silent man, full of grit and able to bear the heat and burden of the day without flinching—one who will not hear a word said about me and who will not utter an unkind word himself." "What you want is a deaf and dumb coal heaver," murmured her friend.

REPUBLICANS HOLD CAUCUSES TONIGHT

This evening the Republican caucuses to elect three delegates from each ward will be held for one hour, beginning at 8 o'clock. The delegates selected will attend the unofficial convention to be held at the court house next Thursday, July 25. Caucuses will also be held this evening in each election district in the county for the same purpose.

At the unofficial convention recommendations will be made for candidates for nomination for county judge, county clerk and coroner.

WAR-TIME HINTS FOR THE LOYAL HOUSEWIFE.

A Salad for Sunday Supper.

Labor and thought may be saved this summer if the Sunday night supper is based on a good vegetable salad which takes the place of several other dishes. The United States food administration suggests the following simple menu which may be prepared readily without upsetting the pleasure of a Sunday afternoon:

Menu—Green pepper and potato salad, corn muffins, butter, fruit cup and wafers, iced milk.

Green Pepper and Potato Salad.

Chop four baked potatoes and one Spanish onion very fine. Slice one green pepper so that it makes large rings. Place on lettuce leaves. Fill the rings with the baked potatoes and onions, heap mayonnaise dressing on top of each ring and serve.

Moran's Business School Notes.

A very striking illustration of the unusual opportunities now open to young people with special business training, is contained in the following announcement of excellent positions accepted by graduates and students of the Moran Business School, Burgevin Building:

Francis Connolly, a recent graduate of the business department, has been appointed bookkeeper in the Kingston National Bank, Fair and Main streets.

John Redican, another recent graduate of the business department, has been engaged as assistant bookkeeper in the Ulster County National Bank, Wall and John streets.

The Moran School is proud to number Messrs Connolly and Redican among its graduates. Exceptionally bright young men, they are shouldering positions of responsibility in a highly creditable manner.

Miss Florence Luby, a graduate of the stenographic department, has accepted a position as stenographer and clerical assistant with William O'Reilly, wholesale stationer, Central Broadway.

Miss Kathryn Quest, an experienced graduate, has been placed as stenographic clerk with the supervisor of track, New York Central R. R. Co., at Kingston.

Raymond D. Smith, of No. 36 Warren street, who has been taking a special course at the Moran School, recently entered the employ of Winston & Co., contractors, at Lee Hall, Va He is spending a week's vacation in town.

Michael F. Henry, of the evening sessions, has secured a desirable office position with the Canfield Supply Co., this city.

Miss Ruth F. Deegan, of No. 103 Henry street, who has been pursuing the special civil service preparatory course at the evening sessions, was recently notified of her success in the United States Civil Service examination for stenographer and typist held at the court house on June 14. She will leave within the next few days for Washington, D. C., to accept appointment to a high grade position in the war department. Miss Deegan has the best wishes of the faculty of Moran Business School, and of her many friends, who feel confident that her excellent qualifications will win for her success in large measure.

Miss Nellie Elmendorf of the stenographic department, is supplying satisfactorily as clerical assistant with Ward B. Everett,, insurance and real estate broker, 243 Fair street, this city

That the young people of Kingston are conserving their time to the fullest extent, in keeping with the government's request, is indicated by the attendance at both day and evening sessions conducted by the Moran School during the summer months. The day students have forsaken their usual vacations, and the night students are making sacrifices equally as great, devoting their time to study and practice, in order to become efficient bookkeepers, stenographers and typists in the shortest possible time, with a view to filling up the ranks in business and government service so seriously depleted by war conditions. The civil service commission believes that the study of shorthand and typewriting by a great number of persons will be justified, and those who have not the required training are urged to undergo instruction at once, for the prospect is that the demand will continue indefinitely.

CAPTIVE AMERICANS.

It is gratifying to learn from Teutonic sources that American prisoners in Germany are much more discreet than are the prisoners taken by Pershing and our Allies. It is reported through Switzerland that General Ludendorff has issued orders complaining of the amount of military information the Allies get from German prisoners and the paucity of information acquired from Allied prisoners. He is amazed that the Allies can learn so much from German prisoners and from note-books or letters found on the German dead. He appeals to his soldiers not to imperil hundreds of lives by ready talk when they are captured, forgetting that the persistent Prussian lie that the Allies murder all their prisoners has the boomerang effect of loosening the tongues of questioned German captives who fear execution if they do not speak freely.

American prisoners in Germany, on the other hand, are as close-mouthed as possible and give no desired information. This appears from the official report of a German examining officer which fell into the hands of our army. This document indicates great discretion on the part of captured American officers and men who seem to manage to convey the impression that they know practically nothing of Pershing's plans. While complaining of this ignorance, the examining officer's report speaks of the "alert and pleasing appearance" of the American prisoners, admits their soldierly qualities and says that the members of the second American division "at present lack only necessary training to make them redoubtable opponents."

In the "Fight and Pray" appeal of the three American cardinals to the people of their church is the following vigorous sentiment: "If we fight like heroes and pray like saints, soon will America overcome mere force by greater force and conquer lust of power by the nobler power of sacrifice and faith." Catholics are asked to pray three times a day "for the guidance of our rulers, the success of our arms, the unity of nations and the welfare of heroes."

The Huns have no better sense than to drop propaganda literature from aeroplanes into the American lines, imagining that it will pay them to tell intelligent young soldiers from the United States such tales as that President Wilson is a wicked angiomaniac, that London has been destroyed by Zeppelins, that the Germans have won everywhere, and the like.

Why not a Joan of Arc statue in Washington? We should have done well in the first place to set up a monument there in honor of the brave inspired French girl who saved her country instead of accepting the offered statue of Frederick the Great who, like the present Kaiser, was disposed to "save" and serve Germany by brutally treading down other countries.

One reason why Senator John Sharp Williams is so withering in his ridicule of the German's "superman" notion is that during the Mississippian's student days at Heidelburg he once surprised a German office nearly to death when he responded to an order to get off a sidewalk by tripping the uniformed bully into a snowdrift.

A German war historian complains of the "unbearable British yoke" worn by Scotland, but omits to mention the fact that the Scots in their kilts are fighting for their Britain with such fury that the staggered Huns have nicknamed them "Ladies from Hell."

Birmingham, Ala., is to revive the old-time pillory as a fit punishment for "slackers, pro-Germans, profiteers, utterers of sedition and loafers." Delaware does not need to revive her whipping post in order to employ it to the same purpose.

The Americans troops charged with the Australians at Hammel shouting "Lusitania." The Germans are likely to curse the name and the memory of the deed long before they hear the last of it.

We may readily credit the report that a serious disease has developed in Germany due to the lack of soap, civilization's chief safe-guard against encroaching germs.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Why do they call these aviators aces?" "Because they generally take the trick."—Baltimore American.

"You poor little boy! You are always starved, aren't you?" "Oh, no, ma'am! Just after my meals I'm only just hungry."—Life.

He—"The fools are not all dead yet." She—"That's as sure as you live."—Boston Transcript.

Bacon—"They say that the life of a piano is about twelve years." Egbert—"Yes, but I know people who try to knock the life out of one in a good deal less time than that!"—Yonkers Statesman.

"What is your idea of the difference between a patriot and a politician?" "A patriot," replied Senator Sorghum, "is reverently grateful for all his country does for him. A politician brags about what he is going to do for his country."—Washington Star.

The Missing Letters.

After considerable trouble the inhabitants of a certain small village were given a post office. At first their pride in the acquisition was unbounded. Then complaints began to come in that letters were not being sent off properly. The post office department accordingly ordered an inspector to look into the matter.

"What becomes of the letters posted here?" he asked the postmaster, who was also the grocer. "The people say that they are not sent off."

"Course they ain't!" snorted the old man angrily as he pointed to a large and nearly empty mail bag hanging in the corner. "I haven't sent it off because it ain't anywhere near full yet."—Exchange.

A Long Way From Paris.

A troop train rolled into Newark recently. A black soldier stuck his head out the window and yelled to the baggageman:

"What city is this?"

"Newark."

"What state am it in?"

"New Jersey."

"New Jersey! Say, we been on dis train foh days. When do we get to Paris?"—New York Herald.

A Receipt for Hash.

The Naval Athletic Association at Key West publishes an interesting journal called Camouflage, from which we extract this bit of conversation that throws a flood of light on camp cookery:

Seaman—Is that hash they have so often at mess hard to make?

Mess Attendant—Well, you see, they don't really make it; it accumulates.

Foiled.

"Did you post my letter, Mary?" asked her mistress. "It was an important one, you know."

"Yis, mum, indeed I did."

"But why have you brought back the money I gave you for a stamp?"

"Sure I didn't have to use it, mum," replied Mary. "I slipped th' letter into th' box whin nobody was lukin.'—Exchange.

A Possible Place.

It was a narrow street and he growled.

"I wonder if there is any place on earth that isn't overrun with motor cars."

"You might try Venice," suggested the party of the second part.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Agricultural School Notes.

The Delhi Agricultural School is not closed. Its faculty are supervising the summer work of over three hundred boys and girls who are doing good service on the farm homes during the summer. It is the headquarters of the inspectors of the 68 farm cadets who have gone out through the school. It is directing the emergency workers who are going out from the offices and shops for certain days of the week into the hayfields. It is inspecting and testing the herds of several farmers in Delaware and Broome counties. Its faculty are helping do the haying upon the state farm. It is co-operating to make the Delhi fair the best ever. It is attempting to boost the Delaware County Jersey Improvement Association, yet the director is not too busy to endeavor to aid in any way possible the farm affairs of the community. Call or write the Agricultural School. An Empire milking machine is being installed in the new barn. Boys and girls will do well to consult the director regarding the new course of study which gives credit for work done on the home farm. The new course will give practice and skill, at the same time that it is offering American culture and profit.

What She Wanted.

"My ideal husband," said the girl who had been reading cheap novels, "must be a strong, silent man, full of grit and able to bear the heat and burden of the day without flinching—one who will not hear a word said about me and who will not utter an unkind word himself." "What you want is a deaf and dumb coal heaver," murmured her friend.

REPUBLICANS HOLD CAUCUSES TONIGHT

This evening the Republican caucuses to elect three delegates from each ward will be held for one hour, beginning at 8 o'clock. The delegates selected will attend the unofficial convention to be held at the court house next Thursday, July 25. Caucuses will also be held this evening in each election district in the county for the same purpose.

At the unofficial convention recommendations will be made for candidates for nomination for county judge, county clerk and coroner.

WAR-TIME HINTS FOR THE LOYAL HOUSEWIFE.

A Salad for Sunday Supper.

Labor and thought may be saved this summer if the Sunday night supper is based on a good vegetable salad which takes the place of several other dishes. The United States food administration suggests the following simple menu which may be prepared readily without upsetting the pleasure of a Sunday afternoon:

Menu—Green pepper and potato salad, corn muffins, butter, fruit cup and wafers, iced milk.

Green Pepper and Potato Salad.

Chop four baked potatoes and one Spanish onion very fine. Slice one green pepper so that it makes large rings. Place on lettuce leaves. Fill the rings with the baked potatoes and onions, heap mayonnaise dressing on top of each ring and serve.

Moran's Business School Notes.

A very striking illustration of the unusual opportunities now open to young people with special business training, is contained in the following announcement of excellent positions accepted by graduates and students of the Moran Business School, Burgevin Building:

Francis Connolly, a recent graduate of the business department, has been appointed bookkeeper in the Kingston National Bank, Fair and Main streets.

John Redican, another recent graduate of the business department, has been engaged as assistant bookkeeper in the Ulster County National Bank, Wall and John streets.

The Moran School is proud to number Messrs Connolly and Redican among its graduates. Exceptionally bright young men, they are shouldering positions of responsibility in a highly creditable manner.

Miss Florence Luby, a graduate of the stenographic department, has accepted a position as stenographer and clerical assistant with William O'Reilly, wholesale stationer, Central Broadway.

Miss Kathryn Quest, an experienced graduate, has been placed as stenographic clerk with the supervisor of track, New York Central R. R. Co., at Kingston.

Raymond D. Smith, of No. 36 Warren street, who has been taking a special course at the Moran School, recently entered the employ of Winston & Co., contractors, at Lee Hull, Va. He is spending a week's vacation in town.

Michael F. Henry, of the evening sessions, has secured a desirable office position with the Canfield Supply Co., this city.

Miss Ruth F. Deegan, of No. 103 Henry street, who has been pursuing the special civil service preparatory course at the evening sessions, was recently notified of her success in the United States Civil Service examination for stenographer and typist held at the court house on June 14. She will leave within the next few days for Washington, D. C., to accept appointment to a high grade position in the war department. Miss Deegan has the best wishes of the faculty of Moran Business School, and of her many friends, who feel confident that her excellent qualifications will win for her success in large measure.

Miss Nellie Elmendorf of the stenographic department, is supplying satisfactorily as clerical assistant with Ward B. Everett, insurance and real estate broker, 243 Fair street, this city.

That the young people of Kingston are conserving their time to the fullest extent, in keeping with the government's request, is indicated by the attendance at both day and evening sessions conducted by the Moran School during the summer months. The day students have forsaken their usual vacations, and the night students are making sacrifices equally as great, devoting their time to study and practice, in order to become efficient bookkeepers, stenographers and typists in the shortest possible time, with a view to filling up the ranks in business and government service so seriously depleted by war conditions. The civil service commission believes that the study of shorthand and typewriting by a great number of persons will be justified, and those who have not the required training are urged to undergo instruction at once, for the prospect is that the demand will continue indefinitely.

SCENE OF HORROR ON BATTLE FIELD

Germans' telephone wires. These were the signals to drop a barrage.

Suddenly more rockets were fired, this time by the Americans, indicating that the allies had reached their objectives. The artillerymen lengthened their fuses, meanwhile keeping up harassing fire against the enemy, dispersing his reinforcements. Watchful airmen had already signalled that the Germans were massing for a counter attack. As the Americans had swept forward the advancing ranks were followed by engineers who renewed lines of telephone wire.

Over these improvised telephone lines word was flashed back that the objectives had all been taken and information was given as to the number of prisoners and machine guns captured.

Soon the tanks lumbered back, bearing wounded in their roofs and decks, unmindful of the German shells bursting all around. Even a few wounded prisoners were thus carried back.

This attack was aimed to thrust back the Germans from the ridge east of Soissons and the Soissons highway and, at the same time, to clean out the bothersome machine guns nests that had been inflicting casualties on us

On our left and right, the French attacked simultaneously, carrying out their plans as scheduled.

Machine guns swept the road towards Soissons.

Southward amidst clumps of trees, as impatient as their horses, stood groups of lancers, awaiting the signal to charge.

It was a thrilling spectacle to watch the tanks as they went into action supporting the American infantry These monsters rolled forward, lurching and diving like drunken things, their forward machine guns spitting flame.

Behind the lines stood American batteries, emplaced in the open with no sign of camouflage and without gun pots, spurting fifteen shots every minute The gun layers here enjoyed the rare treat of shooting at a target they could see with the naked eye. While they could not discern where the individual shells dropped, they could easily see the destruction wrought by each one.

Ambulance and motor truck drivers stopped leisurely along the exposed roads to watch the sight. Wounded men crawled to points of vantage and craned their necks towards the front, gazing with keen interest and utterly indifferent to the shells dropping around them.

Adjacent guards, escorting German prisoners to the rear, halted to drink in the panorama with their eyes. Even the Boche captives watched with deep curiosity the surge of the fighting amidst the smoke and tumult

Overhead aeroplanes darted back and forth incessantly, swooping low inside the German lines to observe the effect of the artillery and then shooting back, sending out wireless messages as the great planes tore through the smoke grimed clouds in wide circles.

Occasionally a message was dropped or a colored flare was let down.

German airmen made strenuous efforts to set fire to the Americans captive balloons but were driven off by the flame belching Archies—high angle guns.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Second Maverick Concert Tomorrow

Tomorrow's concert, which will be given at four o'clock in the Maverick Music Hall, near Woodstock, will offer M. Pierre Henrotte, first violin and concert-master of Campanini's Chicago Opera, as soloist. In view of the more solid selections, sonatas for violin and piano which he will play with Charles Cooper at the piano, M. Henrotte, solos will be of the more popular variety, including "Romance" by Svendon, "minuet" by Beethoven-Kreisle, and "Valse Bluette" by Dago-Auer.

M. Henrotte, a Belgian compatriot of Ysaye, was the leading violin among the musicians supporting Gali Curci when she carried New York by storm, last winter.

The opening number of tomorrow's program will be Beethoven's famous Opus 30, No. 2, a sonata played by Charles Cooper, piano, and Pierre Henrotte, violin. M. Henrotte's violin solos will follow. Brahms d-minor Sonata for piano and violin, one of the more colorful works of this often "dry" and technical composer, will complete the program. In addition to the musical program, tomorrow's gathering will introduce an exhibition of the latest work of Bolton Brown, the Woodstock artist, who brought a new method in lithography back from Paris shortly before the war.

German Admissions.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Amsterdam, July 20.—That the Franco-American forces that opened a counter offensive between the Aisne and Marne rivers broke through at some points, is admitted in a semi-official report issued in Berlin. The statement claims, however, that reserves were brought up "and held the enemy." The Franco-American infantry, it was said, was supported by heavy forces of low flying aeroplanes and tanks in squadrons of eighty.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS ENRICH CITY $16

Friday evening Officer O'Neil arrested Clarence Smith and Victor Nestor, both out of town men, for driving their autos on the left hand side of the street on Broadway, near the Strand. They were fined $5 each by Judge Schirick.

Earl Finch, a chauffeur for the Ashokan Garage, was arrested Thursday night by Officer Fout for driving his car with but one head light and no tail light. He was fined $1 by the court.

Silva Ninna, who was arrested by Officer O'Neil for driving John J. Larkin's car without a chauffeur's license was fined $5 by the court.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 20.—The stock market opened steady today, but business was dull. American Sumatra started ½ higher at 128, followed by a further gain of one point to 129. U. S. Steel opened ⅛ higher at 107½, but in the next few minutes sold down to 107⅛. Marine Preferred at 99 was ¼ higher, but quickly receded to 98¼. The railroad issues were easier, leading in the initial dealing. The industrials displayed considerable strength, advancing 1¾ to 127½. Railway Steel Springs was ¾ higher at 81¾. Baldwin was slightly easier and after opening unchanged at 90⅝, declined to 90¼. Bethlehem Steel declined ⅜ to 83⅜, and Cigar Stores started unchanged at 101½.

The stock market closed steady today. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

British Air Raid.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

London, July 20.—During a raid by British bombing squadrons over German territory on the night of July 18-19, when numerous munitions plants were attacked, two troop trains were struck by projectiles and as the soldiers poured forth were subjected to machine gun fire, said an official statement from the Air Ministry. The powder factory at Obern, Germany, was bombed, and explosions followed. All the British machines returned safely.

RUBY PROPERTY SOLD.

At the Court House—Brought $4,600.

In the partition action of Russell against Carle, the property involved, a small farm and wood lots in Ruby, were sold at auction Friday at the court house here, for $4,600, to Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Carle. V. B. Van Wagonen was the referee. Brinnier, Canfield and Brinnier were the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Barbers Hold a Conference.

A conference of the Master Barbers of this city was held in Measters' Hall, on Broadway, last evening for the purpose of discussing and bringing before the bosses matters beneficial to the craft. A goodly number of proprietors of shops were present in spite of the weather conditions. Another meeting will be called again on or about August 1st.

CHAPLAIN KELSEY HERE.

Versatile Minister Speaks Highly of Ulster's Treatment of Boys.

A farewell surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. Eugene Knapp on Gage street, Thursday evening, in honor of her cousin, Chaplain and First Lieutenant Louis F. Kelsey. Mr. Kelsey is another of our distinguished Ulster county boys and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kelsel of Chichester, N. Y. Chaplain Kelsey was born at Chichester and received a grammar school education at that place. At the age of 17 years he devoted his time to studying for the ministry. He is a graduate of the Syracuse University, Colgate College and Cook's Academy. He has been pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Cicero for a number of years. For several years he has been connected with the New York State National Guard at Syracuse and has the honor of receiving rank of first lieutenant Mr. Kelsey received military training at Louisville, Ky. He was directed to report at Hoboken, N. J., July 20th, for overseas, and expects to sail at once. Besides having the honor of army chaplain and first lieutenant, Mr. Kelsey is also a U. S. mail censor and U. S. army lawyer. He has a brother somewhere in France, doing his bit for Uncle Sam, John F. Kelsey, an interpreter, his duty being to translate the language between our boys and the French. He received his training at Camp Greene, N. C, where he learned the different languages. The party was a complete surprise to Chaplain Kelsey as he had just returned from bidding farewell to his parents at Chichester. During the evening phonograph selections were rendered, but the most important feature of the evening was the presentaion of an Ulster county comfort kit to Chaplain Kelsey. When the kit was presented to him he was greatly surprised and lost not time in opening it and looking over the contents.

After everything was replaced in the kit, he paused for a moment and then responded, thanking Capt Fowler, also the Home Defense, for their kind remembrance of him. He was proud to be an Ulster county boy and says that old Ulster is surely a great and good county to its boys It has all the other New York counties beat by far, and he hopes that all the boys appreciate their comfort kits as much as he appreciates the one presented to him. He regretted very much that he was unable to meet Capt. Fowler in person, but will write him a personal letter. Owing to such a brief stay in town he did not have time to meet Capt. Fowler or any of the men of the Home Defense. All the people present had a fine time, after which refreshments were served. Many remarks were passed what a large, noble looking man Chapain Kelsey was, when in uniform, one of Ulster's finest. Those present at the affair were Mr. and Mrs Irving Gardner and family, Frederick Kelsey, William Kelsey, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Steenburg, Francis Hollenbeck, Charles Gardiner, Clinton Gibbs, George Ticefeldt, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Knapp, Mrs. Isaac Knapp, Mrs. Frank Camp, Misses Beatrice Kelsey, Alice Noone, Charlotte Noone, Myrtis Knapp, Viella Knapp, Walter Knapp, Eugene Knapp, Jr., Clinton Gardiner, Ruth Hendrickson, Vera Hendrickson, Mary Minasian, Evelyn Land and Beulah Trice.

MILTON.

Milton, July 19.—Our people, who knew S. B. Weygant of Lattingtown road were greatly shocked and saddened to hear of his very sudden death on Tuesday morning of valvular heart trouble. Mr. Weygant was at breakfast apparently as well as usual, and in his usual cheery mood. During the morning he fell from his farm wagon when returning from a field where he had unloaded boxes. Life became extinct soon after the fall. He was a consistent member of the Marlborough Presbyterian Church. His survivors are his widow and one son, S. Barrett Weygant, who mourn a most devoted and loving husband and father. The funeral was held from his late home on Friday at 3 p. m. Rev. Mr. Cotton officiating clergyman.

Sense of Taste.

The principal seat of the sense of taste is the mucous membrance of the tongue, in which dissection reveals a cutis or chorion, a papillary structure, and an epithelium. The cutis is tough, but thinner and less dense than in most parts of the cutaneous surface, and receives the insertions of the intrinsic muscles of the tongue. The papillary structure differs from that of the skin in not being concealed under the epithelium, but in projecting from the surface like the villi of the digestive canal, and it thus gives to the tongue its well known roughness. The epithelium is of the scaly variety, as on the skin, but is much thinner on the tongue than on the skin. It is most dense about the middle of the upper surface of the tongue, and it is here that, in disordered digestion, there is the chief accumulation of fur, which, in reality, is simply a depraved and over-abundant formation of epithelium. The papillae on the surface of the tongue are either simple or compound. The former, which closely resemble those on the skin, are scattered over the whole surface of the tongue in parts where the others do not exist, and they likewise participate in the formation of the compound papillae.

WINNERS OF TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS VOLUNTEER TO FIGHT FOR UNCLE SAM

The famous veteran of Davis cup matches and national champion in the lawn tennis doubles, Frederick B. Alexander, has joined Uncle Sam's naval service, while the young champion of the Oriental matches, Harold Throckmorton, has gone in for heavy coast artillery, and has been assigned to duty at Fort Wadsworth. Alexander and Throckmorton won the national patriotic doubles at Boston last season.

CIRCUIT CLOUT RECORD CHALLENGED BY DONLIN

Mike Donlin was up in the press box at the Polo grounds, New York city, recently, and during a fanfest said:

"I see where the boys claim Babe Ruth established a record by making four home runs in four successive days. Well, Babe only tied the record.

"Bill Bradley, the old third baseman of the Cleveland team, playing against the Phillies in Philadelphia, back in 1901, did the same stunt. Four days running he slammed out a circuit clout."

JOHNNY EVERS WILL TEACH "OVER THERE"

Johnny Evers, former second baseman of the old Chicago Cubs, is imbued with patriotic fervor. He has volunteered for service in France and will have charge of the baseball activities of the American troops. Christy Mathewson had been offered the place, but considered it his duty to boost the game and keep it alive at home as a feeder for the army "over there." For more than a decade Evers has been recognized as one of the brainiest players in baseball. He always has given the game his best effort and his fighting qualities have led him into many mixups. Evers' health is much improved and he hopes to be the means of spreading the national game of the United States among the soldiers of other countries.

ANDY KYLE IS HEADED RIGHT

Being a Canadian, He Didn't Think It Was Necessary to Register—Then He Enlists.

Andy Kyle, well-known minor leaguer, has gone into the army of Uncle Sam and thus satisfied the demands of two nations. Kyle is of draft age, but being a Canadian, thought he did not have to register in the States. He found out differently and was hauled up and told where to head in. He headed by enlisting.

NO-HIT GAME FOR LEONARD

Victory Over Detroit Tigers Was His Second in American League—Nearly Perfect Game.

Dutch Leonard's no-hit game against the Detroit Tigers the other day was his second in the American league. He twirled the other one against the St. Louis Browns on August 30, 1916. A base on balls to Veach in the game at Detroit was the only thing that stood between Leonard and a perfect game.

PECULIAR PLAY AT ST. LOUIS

Decision of Umpire Rigler in Game Between Dodgers and Cardinals Leads to Protest.

A peculiar play in the St. Louis-Brooklyn game led to a protest by Ivan Olson of the Dodgers. In the sixth inning with Baird on second Cruise hit a liner to center which Hickman stopped but failed to hold. Baird reached and touched third base, but thinking the ball had been caught, started back toward second. After going back about twenty feet he was wised up by the coaches and cut across the diamond to the home plate and scored. Umpire Rigler ruled that after a player had once touched third base he was not compelled to retouch it. Olson protested the decision and was fired out of the game. The game was won by St. Louis 15 to 12.

DIAMOND NOTES

Heinie Zimmerman has lost the favor of the Polo ground fans.

* * *

Another homer for Ruth. Wonder if the big fellow has nothing else in his system.

* * *

Ban Johnson, president of the American league, does not favor special railroad rates for ball players.

* * *

Hugo Bezdek and Dreyfuss are still chuckling over the deal they made with the Brooklyn club last winter.

* * *

Good idea to have star players in the army come back to their clubs now and then when furloughs are granted.

* * *

When Bob Harmon read that Benny Kauff had been drafted he remarked: "It's too bad he wasn't called a little earlier."

* * *

The suspension of the "work or fight" order as applicable to major leaguers came as a big relief to many of the athletes.

* * *

Otto Jacobs, for the last two seasons a catcher for the Joliet team of the Chicago league, has been signed by Manager Rowland for the White Sox.

* * *

Pitcher Paul Musser and Shortstop Bruce Hartford of the Des Moines Western league ball club have been called for service in the National army.

* * *

Picinich, who is now catching for the Washington club, was once the property of the Yankees, though he never played a game with the New York team.

* * *

Joe Cantillon isn't worried about players so long as they let him play ball. He dug up Roy Patterson and Long Tom Hughes recently and has Jimmy Williams, Otis Clymer and Claude Rosman in reserve right in Minneapolis.

* * *

George Tyler's brother Fred, a catcher with the Worcester Eastern league club, has been summoned for duty in the army. Still another brother, Bill, has been signed by that club for a trial. The cub southpaw comes from a baseball family.

* * *

Admirers of Clark Dickerson, former pitcher with the Cleveland Americans, are pleased with the announcement that he has been appointed a lieutenant in the National army. Dickerson was drafted last fall. He soon was promoted to corporal and later to sergeant. He had experience in a military school before he took up professional baseball.

Danger to Ojibway Finger.

An Ojibway Indian would not point his finger at the moon, as fair Luna would consider it a great insult and instantly bite off the offending member.

SCENE OF HORROR ON BATTLE FIELD

Germans' telephone wires. These were the signals to drop a barrage.

Suddenly more rockets were fired, this time by the Americans, indicating that the allies had reached their objectives. The artillerymen lengthened their fuses, meanwhile keeping up harassing fire against the enemy, dispersing his reinforcements. Watchful airmen had already signalled that the Germans were massing for a counter attack. As the Americans had swept forward the advancing ranks were followed by engineers who renewed lines of telephone wire.

Over these improvised telephone lines word was flashed back that the objectives had all been taken and information was given as to the number of prisoners and machine guns captured.

Soon the tanks lumbered back, bearing wounded in their roofs and decks, unmindful of the German shells bursting all around. Even a few wounded prisoners were thus carried back.

This attack was aimed to thrust back the Germans from the ridge east of Soissons and the Soissons highway and, at the same time, to clean out the bothersome machine guns nests that had been inflicting casualties on us.

On our left and right, the French attacked simultaneously, carrying out their plans as scheduled.

Machine guns swept the road towards Soissons.

Southward amidst clumps of trees, as impatient as their horses, stood groups of lancers, awaiting the signal to charge.

It was a thrilling spectacle to watch the tanks as they went into action supporting the American infantry. These monsters rolled forward, lurching and diving like drunken things, their forward machine guns spitting flame.

Behind the lines stood American batteries, emplaced in the open with no sign of camouflage and without gun pots, spurting fifteen shots every minute. The gun layers here enjoyed the rare treat of shooting at a target they could see with the naked eye. While they could not discern where the individual shells dropped, they could easily see the destruction wrought by each one.

Ambulance and motor truck drivers stopped leisurely along the exposed roads to watch the sight. Wounded men crawled to points of vantage and craned their necks towards the front, gazing with keen interest and utterly indifferent to the shells dropping around them.

Adjacent guards, escorting German prisoners to the rear, halted to drink in the panorama with their eyes. Even the Boche captives watched with deep curiosity the surge of the fighting amidst the smoke and tumult.

Overhead aeroplanes darted back and forth incessantly, swooping low inside the German lines to observe tre effect of the artillery and then shooting back, sending out wireless messages as the great planes tore through the smoke grimed clouds in wide circles.

Occasionally a message was dropped or a colored flare was let down.

German airmen made strenuous efforts to set fire to the Americans captive balloons but were driven off by the flame belching Archies—high angle guns.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Second Maverick Concert Tomorrow

Tomorrow's concert, which will be given at four o'clock in the Maverick Music Hall, near Woodstock, will offer M. Pierre Henrotte, first violin and concert-master of Campanini's Chicago Opera, as soloist. In view of the more solid selections, sonatas for violin and piano which he will play with Charles Cooper at the piano, M. Henrotte, solos will be of the more popular variety, including "Romance" by Svendon, "minuet" by Beethoven-Kreisle, and "Valse Bluette" by Dago-Auer.

M. Henrotte, a Belgian compatriot of Ysaye, was the leading violin among the musicians supporting Gali Curci when she carried New York by storm, last winter.

The opening number of tomorrow's program will be Beethoven's famous Opus 30, No. 2, a sonata played by Charles Cooper, piano, and Pierre Henrotte, violin. M. Henrotte's violin solos will follow. Brahms d-minor Sonata for piano and violin, one of the more colorful works of this often "dry" and technical composer, will complete the program. In addition to the musical program, tomorrow's gathering will introduce an exhibition of the latest work of Bolton Brown, the Woodstock artist, who brought a new method in lithography back from Paris shortly before the war.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

Monday evening Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., will hold a special communication for the purpose of conferring the second and third degrees on a brother who has been called for army service and who leaves with Thursday's contingent for Camp Dix. The special communication is called for 7 o'clock that evening.

German Admissions.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Amsterdam, July 20.—That the Franco-American forces that opened a counter offensive between the Aisne and Marne rivers broke through at some points, is admitted in a semi-official report issued in Berlin. The statement claims, however, that reserves were brought up "and held the enemy." The Franco-American infantry, it was said, was supported by heavy forces of low flying aeroplanes and tanks in squadrons of eighty.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS ENRICH CITY $16

Friday evening Officer O'Neil arrested Clarence Smith and Victor Nestor, both out of town men, for driving their autos on the left hand side of the street on Broadway, near the Strand. They were fined $5 each by Judge Schirick.

Earl Finch, a chauffeur for the Ashokan Garage, was arrested Thursday night by Officer Fout for driving his car with but one head light and no tail light. He was fined $1 by the court.

Silva Ninna, who was arrested by Officer O'Neil for driving John J. Larkin's car without a chauffeur's license was fined $5 by the court.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 20.—The stock market opened steady today, but business was dull. American Sumatra started ½ higher at 128, followed by a further gain of one point to 129. U. S. Steel opened ⅛ higher at 107½, but in the next few minutes sold down to 107⅛. Marine Preferred at 99 was ¼ higher, but quickly receded to 98¼. The railroad issues were easier, leading in the initial dealing. The industrials displayed considerable strength, advancing 1¾ to 127½. Railway Steel Springs was ¾ higher at 81¾. Baldwin was slightly easier and after opening unchanged at 90⅝, declined to 90¼. Bethlehem Steel declined ⅜ to 83⅜, and Cigar Stores started unchanged at 101½.

The stock market closed steady today. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

British Air Raid.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 20.—During a raid by British bombing squadrons over German territory on the night of July 18-19, when numerous munitions plants were attacked, two troop trains were struck by projectiles and as the soldiers poured forth were subjected to machine gun fire, said an official statement from the Air Ministry. The powder factory at Obern, Germany, was bombed, and explosions followed. All the British machines returned safely.

RUBY PROPERTY SOLD.

At the Court House—Brought $4,600.

In the partition action of Russell against Carle, the property involved, a small farm and wood lots in Ruby, were sold at auction Friday at the court house here, for $4,600, to Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Carle. V. B. Van Wagonen was the referee. Brinnier, Canfield and Brinnier were the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Barbers Hold a Conference.

A conference of the Master Barbers of this city was held in Measters' Hall, on Broadway, last evening for the purpose of discussing and bringing before the bosses matters beneficial to the craft. A goodly number of proprietors of shops were present in spite of the weather conditions. Another meeting will be called again on or about August 1st.

CHAPLAIN KELSEY HERE.

Versatile Minister Speaks Highly of Ulster's Treatment of Boys.

A farewell surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. Eugene Knapp on Gage street, Thursday evening, in honor of her cousin, Chaplain and First Lieutenant Louis F. Kelsey. Mr. Kelsey is another of our distinguished Ulster county boys and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kelsel of Chichester, N. Y. Chaplain Kelsey was born at Chichester and received a grammar school education at that place. At the age of 17 years he devoted his time to studying for the ministry. He is a graduate of the Syracuse University, Colgate College and Cook's Academy. He has been pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Cicero for a number of years. For several years he has been connected with the New York State National Guard at Syracuse and has the honor of receiving rank of first lieutenant. Mr. Kelsey received military training at Louisville, Ky. He was directed to report at Hoboken, N. J., July 20th, for overseas, and expects to sail at once. Besides having the honor of army chaplain and first lieutenant, Mr. Kelsey is also a U. S. mail censor and U. S. army lawyer. He has a brother somewhere in France, doing his bit for Uncle Sam, John F. Kelsey, an interpreter, his duty being to translate the language between our boys and the French. He received his training at Camp Greene, N. C., where he learned the different languages. The party was a complete surprise to Chaplain Kelsey as he had just returned from bidding farewell to his parents at Chichester. During the evening phonograph selections were rendered, but the most important feature of the evening was the presentaion of an Ulster county comfort kit to Chaplain Kelsey. When the kit was presented to him he was greatly surprised and lost not time in opening it and looking over the contents.

After everything was replaced in the kit, he paused for a moment and then responded, thanking Capt. Fowler, also the Home Defense, for their kind remembrance of him. He was proud to be an Ulster county boy and says that old Ulster is surely a great and good county to its boys. It has all the other New York counties beat by far, and he hopes that all the boys appreciate their comfort kits as much as he appreciates the one presented to him. He regretted very much that he was unable to meet Capt. Fowler in person, but will write him a personal letter. Owing to such a brief stay in town he did not have time to meet Capt. Fowler or any of the men of the Home Defense. All the people present had a fine time, after which refreshments were served. Many remarks were passed what a large, noble looking man Chapain Kelsey was, when in uniform, one of Ulster's finest. Those present at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Irving Gardner and family, Frederick Kelsey, William Kelsey, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Steenburg, Francis Hollenbeck, Charles Gardiner, Clinton Gibbs, George Ticefeldt, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Knapp, Mrs. Isaac Knapp, Mrs. Frank Camp, Misses Beatrice Kelsey, Alice Noone, Charlotte Noone, Myrtis Knapp, Viella Knapp, Walter Knapp, Eugene Knapp, Jr., Clinton Gardiner, Ruth Hendrickson, Vera Hendrickson, Mary Minasian, Evelyn Land and Beulah Trice.

MILTON.

Milton, July 19.—Our people, who knew S. B. Weygant of Lattingtown road were greatly shocked and saddened to hear of his very sudden death on Tuesday morning of valvular heart trouble. Mr. Weygant was at breakfast apparently as well as usual, and in his usual cheery mood. During the morning he fell from his farm wagon when returning from a field where he had unloaded boxes. Life became extinct soon after the fall. He was a consistent member of the Marlborough Presbyterian Church. His survivors are his widow and one son, S. Barrett Weygant, who mourn a most devoted and loving husband and father. The funeral was held from his late home on Friday at 3 p. m. Rev. Mr. Cotton officiating clergyman.

CIRCUIT CLOUT RECORD CHALLENGED BY DONLIN

Mike Donlin was up in the press box at the Polo grounds, New York city, recently, and during a fanfest said:

"I see where the boys claim Babe Ruth established a record by making four home runs in four successive days. Well, Babe only tied the record.

"Bill Bradley, the old third baseman of the Cleveland team, playing against the Phillies in Philadelphia, back in 1901, did the same stunt. Four days running he slammed out a circuit clout."

JOHNNY EVERS WILL TEACH "OVER THERE"

Johnny Evers, former second baseman of the old Chicago Cubs, is imbued with patriotic fervor. He has volunteered for service in France and will have charge of the baseball activities of the American troops. Christy Mathewson had been offered the place, but considered it his duty to boost the game and keep it alive at home as a feeder for the army "over there." For more than a decade Evers has been recognized as one of the brainiest players in baseball. He always has given the game his best effort and his fighting qualities have led him into many mixups. Evers' health is much improved and he hopes to be the means of spreading the national game of the United States among the soldiers of other countries.

ANDY KYLE IS HEADED RIGHT

Being a Canadian, He Didn't Think It Was Necessary to Register—Then He Enlists.

Andy Kyle, well-known minor leaguer, has gone into the army of Uncle Sam and thus satisfied the demands of two nations. Kyle is of draft age, but being a Canadian, thought he did not have to register in the States. He found out differently and was hauled up and told where to head in. He headed by enlisting.

NO-HIT GAME FOR LEONARD

Victory Over Detroit Tigers Was His Second in American League—Nearly Perfect Game.

Dutch Leonard's no-hit game against the Detroit Tigers the other day was his second in the American league. He twirled the other one against the St. Louis Browns on August 30, 1916. A base on balls to Veach in the game at Detroit was the only thing that stood between Leonard and a perfect game.

PECULIAR PLAY AT ST. LOUIS

Decision of Umpire Rigler in Game Between Dodgers and Cardinals Leads to Protest.

A peculiar play in the St. Louis-Brooklyn game led to a protest by Ivan Olson of the Dodgers. In the sixth inning with Baird on second Cruise hit a liner to center which Hickman stopped but failed to hold. Baird reached and touched third base, but thinking the ball had been caught, started back toward second. After going back about twenty feet he was wised up by the coaches and cut across the diamond to the home plate and scored. Umpire Rigler ruled that after a player had once touched third base he was not compelled to retouch it. Olson protested the decision and was fired out of the game. The game was won by St. Louis 15 to 12.

Admirers of Clark Dickerson, former pitcher with the Cleveland Americans, are pleased with the announcement that he has been appointed a lieutenant in the National army. Dickerson was drafted last fall. He soon was promoted to corporal and later to sergeant. He had experience in a military school before he took up professional baseball.

AN ACT relative to the constitutional oath of an attorney and counselor at law.

Became a law April 17, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Any person who, from actual service in the military or naval forces of the United States, is unable to take in open court the constitutional oath of office required of an attorney and counselor at law, may take such oath before the commanding officer of that person's regiment or ship or separate detachment, as the case may be, and such commanding officer is hereby authorized to administer such oath and to transmit the written or printed form thereof to the clerk of the proper appellate division, who, upon approval of the said court, shall file such oath in his office, and thereupon such oath shall have the full force and effect as if taken in open court, provided however, that such person, as soon as he is physically able, shall forthwith subscribe the oath in the roll or book kept in the office of the said clerk and before he shall discharge any of the duties of an attorney and counselor at law.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the public health law, in relation to certain contagious diseases.

Became a law April 17, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Chapter forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the public health, constituting chapter forty-five of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended by inserting therein a new article, to be article seventeen-b, to read as follows:

ARTICLE 17-B.

Regulation of Certain Contagious Diseases

Section 343-m. Suspected persons.
343-n. Convicted persons.
343-o. Treatment required.
343-p. Free treatment for indigent persons.
343-q. Treatment only by physicians or on their prescriptions.
343-r. Reports and information confidential.
343-s. Penalties.
343-t. Definitions.

§ 343-m. Suspected persons. Whenever the board of health or health officer of a health district shall have reasonable ground to believe that any person within the jurisdiction of such board or health officer is suffering from, or infected with, any infectious venereal disease and is likely to infect or to be the source of infection of any other person, such board of health or health officer shall cause a medical examination to be made of such person, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not such person is in fact suffering from, or infected with, such disease, and every such person shall submit to such examination and permit such specimens of blood or bodily discharges to be taken for laboratory examinations as may be necessary to establish the presence or absence of such disease or infection, provided, that the required examination shall be made by the health officer, or, at the option of the person to be examined, by a licensed physician who, in the opinion of the health officer, is qualified for this work and is approved by him, and such licensed physician making such [illegible] board of health, health department or health officer, but shall not issue a certificate of freedom from venereal disease to or for the person examined. Such suspected person may apply to a magistrate for an order restraining such examination and no examination shall then be made except upon order of such magistrate. Before such examination each suspected person shall be informed of this right and be given an opportunity to avail himself or herself thereof.

§ 343-n. Convicted persons. Every person convicted of vagrancy under subdivision three or four of section eight hundred and eighty-seven of the code of criminal procedure or under section one hundred and fifty of the tenement house law or under any statute or ordinance for any offense of the nature specified in subdivision four of section eight hundred and eighty-seven of the code of criminal procedure, or any person convicted of frequenting disorderly houses or houses of prostitution, shall be reported by the court or magistrate before whom such conviction is had to the board of health or health officer of the health district in which the offense occurred, and shall not be released from the jurisdiction of such court or magistrate until the person so convicted has been examined as provided for in the preceding section.

§ 343-o. Treatment required. Every person, who, by the examination as provided for in section three hundred and forty-three-m, is found to be suffering from, or infected with any infectious venereal disease, shall be required by the board of health, or the health officer of the district in which such person resides, to conform to all the rules and regulations made and approved by such board of health or health officer for persons so diseased, such rules and regulations, except as to the city of New York, to be first approved by the state department of health. Such rules and regulations shall provide that such person shall submit to a prescribed course of treatment by a duly licensed physician, engaged by the infected person, who has been approved by such board of health, health officer or the state department of health. Such rules and regulations may provide for the isolation and treatment of persons so infected and the local board or health officer shall in that case define the place and limits of the area within which such person shall be isolated, and the conditions under which such isolation and treatment shall be terminated. Any of such rules and regulations may be reviewed in the courts and tested as to reasonableness in a proceeding instituted by any person directed to conform therewith pursuant to this article.

§ 343-p. Free treatment for indigent persons. Any person who is suffering from a venereal disease in an infectious stage and who is unable to pay for treatment may make application for care and treatment to the board of health of the health district in which such person resides and such board shall promptly institute treatment. If such board or health officer after investigation finds that such person is in fact unable to pay for such treatment, such treatment shall be continued for such person without cost at the expense of the said district.

§ 343-q. Treatment only by physicians or on their prescriptions. No person other than a licensed physician, shall treat or prescribe for a case of venereal disease, or dispense a drug, medicine or remedy for the treatment of such a disease except on prescription of a duly licensed physician. Such prescription shall be retained by the person dispensing such drug, medicine or remedy, and no copy of such prescription shall be made by or delivered to any person, and such prescription shall be filed but once.

§ 343-r. Reports and information confidential. All reports or information secured by a board of health or health officer under the provisions of this article shall be absolutely confidential except in so far as is necessary to carry out the purposes of the article.

§ 343-s. Penalties. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this article or any rule or regulation made and approved under the provisions of section three hundred and forty-three-o shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person who, knowing himself or herself to be infected with venereal disease, such as chancroid, gonorrhea or syphilis, in any of the variations or stages of such diseases, has sexual intercourse with a person in the military or naval service of the state or of the United States shall be guilty of a felony.

§ 343-t. Definitions. The term "health district" as used in this article shall mean a city, town, village or consolidated health district having a separate board of health.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

LAWS OF NEW YORK.—By Authority.
CHAP. 268.

AN ACT to amend the county law, in relation to county tuberculosis hospitals.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section forty-five of chapter sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to counties, constituting chapter eleven of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter three hundred and forty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine and amended by chapters one hundred and sixty-six and three hundred and seventy-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, chapter three hundred and twenty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, chapters one hundred and thirty-two and four hundred and twenty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen and chapter four hundred and sixty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 45. The board of supervisors of every county in the state containing a population of thirty-five thousand or more, as determined by the latest state census, shall establish, as hereinafter provided, a county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from the disease known as tuberculosis, unless there already exists in such county a hospital or institution provided by the county or other authority and caring for persons suffering from tuberculosis, which is approved by the state commissioner of health, or the board of supervisors of such county shall enter into a contract prior to November first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, for the care of its tuberculosis patients with an adjoining county having such county hospital or with a private sanatorium within its county or shall join with one or more other counties in the establishment and maintenance of such county hospital as hereinafter provided. Such county hospital, except a hospital established and maintained by two or more counties, shall be available for patients on or before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and eighteen. If the board of supervisors of any such county shall have failed to secure a site for a county tuberculosis hospital, and to have awarded contracts for the erection of suitable buildings thereon by the first day of January, nineteen hundred and eighteen, it shall be the duty of the state commissioner of health forthwith to proceed to locate, construct and place in operation a tuberculosis hospital in and for such county, the capacity of which shall not exceed the average number of deaths per annum from tuberculosis in such county during the past five years. For such purposes the state commissioner of health shall possess, and it shall be his duty to exercise all the powers which would have been possessed by the board of supervisors of such county, had such hospital been established and placed in operation by the board of supervisors thereof. All expenditures incurred by the state commissioner of health for and in connection with the location, construction and operation of such hospital, shall be a charge upon the county, and provision shall be made for the payment therefor by the board of supervisors of such county in the same manner as in the case of other charges against the county. At any time after such hospital has been in operation, the board of supervisors in such county may appoint a board of managers for such hospital, pursuant to the provisions of this act and thirty days after the appointment of such board of managers by such board of supervisors, such hospital shall be transferred to such board of managers, and such board of managers shall thereafter possess and exercise all the powers of the board of managers of a county hospital for tuberculosis under this act, and the state commissioner of health shall be relieved from any responsibility therefor except such responsibility as he exercises in regard to all county tuberculosis hospitals under the provisions of this act.

When deemed advisable by the board of supervisors and approved by the state commissioner of health, any such county may maintain more than one county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from tuberculosis. The board of supervisors of any other county shall have power by a majority vote to establish a county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from the disease known as tuberculosis; or it may submit the question of establishing such a hospital to the voters of the county at any general election, and in any county in which town meetings at which all the voters of the county may vote are held in the spring of the year the board of supervisors of such county shall have authority also to submit the question of establishing such a hospital at said town meetings to the electors of the county who are qualified to vote at a general election. The board of supervisors shall fix the sum of money deemed necessary for the establishment of said hospital. The form of the proposition submitted shall read as follows, "Shall the county of .... appropriate the sum of .... dollars for the establishment of a tuberculosis hospital?" The clerk of the board of supervisors, immediately upon the adoption of such resolution, shall forward to the duly constituted election authorities of the county a certified copy of said resolution providing for the submission of the proposition. The election notices shall state that the proposition will be voted upon and in the form set forth above. Such proposition shall be submitted on a distinct and separate ballot without any other question being printed thereon, any general or special law to the contrary notwithstanding. Provision for taking such vote and for the canvassing and returning of the result shall be made by the duly constituted election authorities.

If a majority of the voters voting on such proposition shall vote in favor thereof then such hospital shall be established hereunder and the sum of money named in the said proposition shall be deemed appropriated, and it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to proceed forthwith to exercise the powers and authority conferred upon it in this section.

When the board of supervisors of any county shall have voted to establish such hospital, or when a referendum on the proposition of establishing such a hospital in a county, as authorized above, shall have been carried, the board of supervisors shall:

1. Purchase or lease real property therefor, or acquire such real property, and easements therein, by condemnation proceedings, in the manner prescribed by the condemnation law, in any town, city or village in the county. After the presentation of the petition in such proceeding prescribed in section three thousand three hundred and sixty of the code of civil procedure and the filing of the notice of pendency of action prescribed in section three thousand three hundred and eighty-one thereof, said board of supervisors shall be and become seized of the whole or such part of the real property described in said petition to be so acquired for carrying into effect the provisions of this act, as such board may, by resolution adopted at a regular or special session, determine to be necessary for the immediate use, and such board for and in the name of such county may enter upon, occupy and use such real property so described and required for such purposes. Such resolution shall contain a description of the real property of which possession is to be taken and the day upon which possession will be taken. Said board of supervisors shall cause a copy of such resolution to be filed in the county clerk's office of the county in which such property is situate, and notice of the adoption thereof, with a copy of the resolution and of its intention to take possession of the premises therein described on a day certain, also therein named, to be served, either personally or by mail, upon the owner or owners of, and persons interested in such real property, at least five days prior to the day fixed in such resolution for taking possession. From the time of the service of such notice, the entry upon and appropriation by the county of the real property therein described for the purposes provided for by this act, shall be deemed complete, and such notice so served shall be conclusive evidence of such entry and appropriation and of the quantity and boundaries of the lands appropriated. The board of supervisors may cause a duplicate copy of such papers so served, with an affidavit of due service thereof on such owner or persons interested, to be recorded in the books used for recording deeds in the office of the county clerk of its county, and the record of such notice and such proof of service shall be prima facie evidence of the due service thereof. Compensation for property thus acquired shall be made in such condemnation proceedings.

2. Erect all necessary buildings and alter any buildings, on the property when acquired for the use of said hospital, provided that the location of the buildings and the plans and such part of the specifications as shall be required by the state commissioner of health for such erection or alteration together with the initial equipment shall first be approved by the state commissioner of health. Any changes in such location or plans shall also be first approved by the state commissioner of health and the state commissioner of health and his duly authorized representatives shall have the power to inspect such county hospitals during the course of their construction for the purpose of seeing that such plans are complied with.

3. Cause to be assessed, levied and collected such sums of money as it shall deem necessary for suitable lands, buildings and improvements for said hospital, and for the maintenance thereof, and for all other necessary expenditures therefor; and to borrow money for the erection of such hospital and for the purchase of a site therefor on the credit of the county, and issue county obligations therefor, in such manner as it may do for other county purposes.

4. Appoint a board of managers for said hospital as hereinafter provided.

5. Accept and hold in trust for the county, any grant or devise of land, or any gift or bequest of money or other personal property, or any donation to be applied, principal or income or both, for the benefit of said hospital, and apply the same in accordance with the terms of the gift.

6. Whenever it shall deem it in the public interest so to do, and notwithstanding the provisions of any other general or special act, change the location of such hospital and acquire a new site by purchase, lease or condemnation, as provided in this section, and establish the hospital thereon. The board of supervisors of any county of the state, including a county in which the provisions of this chapter are not mandatory, subject to the approval of the state commissioner of health, may enter into a contract prior to November first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, for the care of its tuberculosis patients with the board of supervisors of an adjoining county having such county hospital or with a private sanatorium within its county, or may, subject to like approval, jointly with the boards of supervisors of one or more other adjoining counties, establish prior to November first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and thereafter maintain such county hospital. In the establishment and maintenance of such joint county hospital, the boards of supervisors so uniting, in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the state commissioner of health, shall have jointly except as provided in this section, all the power and authority conferred and obligations imposed upon boards of supervisors by this chapter for the establishment and maintenance of such county hospital in a single county and, for that purpose, each board of supervisors in such county shall appoint severally three of its members, who collectively shall be a commission, to select a site for such joint county hospital in any town, city or village in one of such counties and, when the necessary real property so selected by such commission shall have been acquired, purchased or leased as herein provided, to erect all necessary buildings, and alter any buildings, on such property for the use of such joint hospital. Such commission shall have all the powers and duties conferred or imposed upon boards of supervisors by sections forty-five to forty-nine inclusive of this chapter, except as in this section expressly otherwise provided. Every such joint county hospital shall be completed and ready for occupancy prior to July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen. When completed, each board of supervisors in such counties shall appoint severally three citizens of its county, of whom at least one shall be a practicing physician, who collectively shall constitute a board of managers of such joint county hospital and shall exercise the functions and powers granted and be subject, so far as practicable, to the provisions of this chapter applicable to boards of managers of a county hospital established under this chapter in a single county and said board of managers shall appoint at least one nurse in each county for the discovery, visitation and care of persons affected with tuberculosis and may appoint such additional nurse or nurses as it may deem necessary. The representation and voting power of each manager in such joint board shall be upon the basis and at the rate of one vote for each one thousand and major fraction of the population of the county from which such manager shall be chosen as determined by the latest state census. The superintendent appointed by such board shall have the powers and perform the duties which are prescribed in this chapter for superintendents of hospitals in a single county and the other employees of such board shall perform such duties as the board shall prescribe. The expense of the establishment and maintenance of a joint county hospital as herein provided shall be paid by such counties in proportion to the assessed value of the taxable property of each such county as it appears by the assessment rolls of such counties on the last assessment for state or county taxes prior to the incurring of such expense and the board of supervisors of each county so combining, is hereby authorized to borrow money to defray its share, estimated as herein provided, for the erection of such hospital and for the purchase of a site therefor on the credit of the county and issue county obligations therefor in such manner as it may do for other county purposes. All provisions of sections forty-five to forty-nine inclusive of this chapter not in conflict with the provisions of this section shall apply to such joint hospital, its establishment, maintenance and operation, except that for the purpose of the admission of patients to such hospital each of the counties so combining shall be considered the county in which the hospital is situated.

§ 2. The amendments made by this act shall not apply to counties in which a site for a tuberculosis hospital has been selected by any county and a petition for the approval of such site has been presented to the state board of health pursuant to the provisions of this chapter.

§ 3. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the penal law, in relation to the maintenance by the state of felons sentenced to imprisonment in penitentiaries.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section twenty-one hundred and eighty-two of the penal law is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 2182. Sentence to imprisonment for one year. Where a person is convicted of a crime, for which the punishment inflicted is imprisonment for a term of one year, he may be sentenced to, and the imprisonment may be inflicted by, confinement either in a county jail, or in a penitentiary or state prison. No person shall be sentenced to imprisonment in a state prison for less than one year. The expense of maintaining persons convicted of a felony who shall be sentenced to imprisonment in a penitentiary shall be paid by the state at the rate of sixty cents per day per capita.

AN ACT to amend the banking law, in relation to the investment of the deposits and guaranty fund of savings banks in bankers acceptances and bills of exchange.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section two hundred thirty-nine of chapter three hundred sixty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, entitled "An act in relation to banking corporations, and individuals, partnerships, unincorporated associations and corporations under the supervision of the banking department, constituting chapter two of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter five hundred fifteen of the laws of nineteen hundred fifteen and chapter three hundred sixty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred sixteen, is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof a new subdivision to read as follows:

11. Bankers' acceptances and bills of exchange of the kind and maturities made eligible by law for rediscount with federal reserve banks, provided the same are accepted by a bank, national banking association or trust company, incorporated under the laws of the state of New York or under the laws of the United States and having its principal place of business in the state of New York. Not more than twenty per centum of the assets of any savings bank less the amount of the available fund held pursuant to the provisions of section two hundred fifty-one of this chapter, shall be invested in such acceptances. The aggregate amount of the liability of any bank, national banking association or trust company to any savings bank for acceptances held by such savings bank and deposits made with it shall not exceed twenty-five per centum of the paid-up capital and surplus of such bank, national banking association or trust company and not more than five per centum of the aggregate amount credited to the depositors of any savings bank shall be invested in the acceptances of or deposited with a bank, national banking association or trust company of which a trustee of such savings bank is a director.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

LAWS OF NEW YORK.—By Authority.
CHAP. 271.

AN ACT to amend the tax law, in relation to a franchise tax on manufacturing and mercantile corporations.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section two hundred and nineteen-j of chapter sixty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to taxation, constituting chapter sixty of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter seven hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 219-j. Exemptions from certain other taxation. After this article takes effect, corporations taxable thereunder shall not be assessed on any personal property or capital stock, as provided for in section twelve of this chapter, except for taxes levied for the fiscal year ending December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in taxing districts in which the fiscal year is coterminous with the calendar year; and where taxes are required by law to be levied for local purposes for a fiscal year beginning in nineteen hundred and seventeen and ending in nineteen hundred and eighteen, such corporations shall not be assessed on any personal property or capital stock, as provided for in section twelve of this chapter, except for taxes levied for such fiscal year.

If, in any taxing district, by reason of the provisions of this section as originally enacted by chapter seven hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, the assessment of the personal property or capital stock of any such corporation has been omitted from the assessment-roll for the fiscal year specifically referred to in the first paragraph in this section, the assessors of such district shall enter the same in the assessment-roll first prepared after this act goes into effect, at the valuation of such fiscal year, or if not then valued, at such valuation as the assessors shall determine for such year. Before finally fixing such valuation the assessors shall give to such corporation a notice of at least five days and an opportunity to be heard with reference thereto. Such property shall be taxed at the rate per centum of the fiscal year in which it was omitted from the assessment-roll. The whole amount of tax so imposed on the personal property or capital stock of such corporations shall be deducted from the aggregate of taxation otherwise to be levied on such taxing district for the current year, before such tax is levied.

After this article takes effect corporations taxable thereunder shall not be required to pay the franchise tax imposed by section one hundred and eighty-two of this chapter, or to make the reports called for in sections twenty-seven and one hundred and ninety-two of this chapter, except that, for the purpose of assessing the personal property or capital stock of such corporations as specifically provided in this section, such corporations may be required to make the report called for in such section twenty-seven. Nothing herein shall be construed to impair the obligation to pay franchise taxes due on or before the fifteenth day of January, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or taxes on personal property or capital stock assessed as specifically provided in this section, whether such taxes have been or may hereafter be assessed. But if any corporation taxed under this article shall have paid or shall hereafter pay taxes on personal property or capital stock assessed as specifically provided in this section, for any part of the calendar year nineteen hundred and eighteen, such corporation shall be entitled to credit, with interest, as hereinafter provided, for the amount of such part of the taxes so paid locally as the portion of the year nineteen hundred and eighteen for which such taxes shall have been paid bears to the entire calendar year. And if, in any taxing district, by reason of the provisions of this section as originally enacted by chapter seven hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, any such corporation shall have paid or shall hereafter pay taxes on personal property or capital stock for the year ending December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, such corporation shall be entitled to credit, with interest, as hereinafter provided, for the amount of taxes so paid locally.

Such credits shall be granted by the tax commission on the submission of satisfactory proofs that the corporation is entitled thereto. The tax commission shall forthwith notify the corporation and the comptroller of any credit so granted. Such credit may be used by the corporation entitled thereto in the payment of taxes charged against it under this article, or such credit or any part thereof may be assigned by the corporation in whose favor it is allowed to a corporation liable to pay taxes under this article, and the assignee of the whole or any part of such credit on filing with the comptroller such assignment shall thereupon be entitled to credit upon the books of the comptroller for the amount thereof on the account for taxes of such assignee in the same way and with the same effect as though the credit had originally been allowed in favor of such assignee.

The comptroller is authorized and directed to charge such credits against the several taxing districts in which the taxes credited were originally paid, and to deduct such amount or amounts from any taxes thereafter found due to such taxing districts under the provisions of this article. If the amount so charged against a taxing district is in excess of the amount in the possession of the comptroller to be returned to such taxing district under this article, the comptroller shall enter such excess of credits upon his books against the state's share of the taxes collected under this article and not previously accounted for to the state treasurer. The comptroller shall advise the state treasurer of all such proceedings and shall retain from any funds subsequently found due to any such taxing district under this article a like amount which shall be deposited with the state treasurer with an accounting therefor.

§ 2. Section two hundred and nineteen-i of such chapter as amended by this act shall be construed as having been in effect, as so amended, as of the date of the original enactment of article nine-a of the tax law, as added by chapter seven hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen.

§ 3. Such chapter is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be known as section two hundred and nineteen-l to read as follows:

§ 219-l. Personal property defined. The term "personal property," for the purposes of the exemption from assessment and taxation thereon locally as granted by section two hundred and nineteen-j of this chapter, shall include such machinery and equipment affixed to the building as would not pass between grantor and grantee as a part of the premises if not specifically mentioned or referred to in the deed, or as would, if the building were vacated or sold, or the nature of the work carried on therein changed, be moved, except boilers, ventilating apparatus, elevators, gas, electric and water power generating apparatus and shafting. An owner of a building is entitled to the same exemption under this section as a lessee and every assessment of real property made subsequent to June fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall be subject to the provisions of this section as amended hereby.

§ 4. Section two hundred and nineteen-c of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 219-c. When tax payable. The tax hereby imposed shall be paid to the state comptroller on or before the first day of January of each year, or within thirty days after notice of the tax has been given as provided in section two hundred and nineteen-b of this chapter if such notice is given subsequent to the first day of December of the year for which such tax is imposed. If such tax be not so paid, or in the case of additional taxes, if not paid within thirty days after notice of such additional tax has been given as provided in section two hundred and nineteen-d of this chapter and such notice of additional tax is given subsequent to the first day of December of the year for which such additional tax is imposed, the corporation liable to such tax shall pay to the state comptroller, in addition to the amount of such tax, or additional tax, ten per centum of such amount, plus one per centum for each month the tax or additional tax remains unpaid. No such penalty or charge shall be added to the amount of such tax or additional tax imposed for the year beginning November first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, if such tax or additional tax is paid within thirty days after the passage of this act. Each such tax or additional tax shall be a lien upon and binding upon the real and personal property of the corporation liable to pay the same from the time when it is payable until the same is paid in full.

§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the county law, in relation to the employment of county nurses.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision nine of section forty-seven of chapter sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to counties, constituting chapter eleven of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter three hundred twenty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen and amended by chapter four hundred sixty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

9. Shall employ a county nurse, or an additional nurse or nurses if it deems necessary, for the discovery of tuberculosis cases and for the visitation of such cases and of patients discharged from the hospital and for such other duties as may seem appropriate; and shall cause to be examined by the superintendent or one of his medical staff suspected cases of tuberculosis reported to it by the county nurse, or nurses, or by physicians, teachers, employers, heads of families or others; and it may take such other steps for the care, treatment and prevention of tuberculosis as it may from time to time deem wise. In cases, however, where it is not mandatory to establish a county tuberculosis hospital and no board of managers has been provided, the board of supervisors shall have the power to appoint and employ such nurse or additional nurse or nurses, and appointments heretofore made by boards of supervisors in such cases are hereby ratified, confirmed and legalized.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 288.

AN ACT to amend the tax law, in relation to exemption of property held by trustees for hospital or library purposes.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision seven of section four of chapter sixty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to taxation, constituting chapter sixty of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter four hundred and eleven of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. The real property of a corporation or association organized exclusively for the moral or mental improvement of men or women, or for religious, bible, tract, charitable, benevolent, missionary, hospital, infirmary, educational, scientific, literary, library, patriotic, historical or cemetery purposes, or for the enforcement of laws relating to children or animals, or for two or more such purposes, and used exclusively for carrying out thereupon one or more of such purposes, and the personal property of any such corporation shall be exempt from taxation. But no such corporation or association shall be entitled to any such exemption if any officer, member or employee thereof shall receive or may be lawfully entitled to receive any pecuniary profit from the operations thereof, except reasonable compensation for services in effecting one or more of such purposes, or as proper beneficiaries of its strictly charitable purposes; or if the organization thereof for any such avowed purposes be a guise or pretense for directly or indirectly making any other pecuniary profit for such corporation or association, or for any of its members or employees, or if it be not in good faith organized or conducted exclusively for one or more of such purposes. The real property of any such corporation or association entitled to such exemption held by it exclusively for one or more of such purposes and from which no rents, profits or income are derived, shall be so exempt, though not in actual use therefor by reason of the absence of suitable buildings or improvements thereon, if the construction of such buildings or improvements is in progress, or is in good faith contemplated by such corporation or association; or if such real property is held by such corporation or association upon condition that the title thereto shall revert in case any building not intended and suitable for one or more of such purposes shall be erected upon said premises or some part thereof. The real property of any such corporation not so used exclusively for carrying out thereupon one or more of such purposes but leased or otherwise used for other purposes, shall not be exempt, but if a portion only of any lot or building of any such corporation or association is used exclusively for carrying out thereupon one or more such purposes of any such corporation or association, then such lot or building shall be so exempt only to the extent of the value of the portion so used, and the remaining or other portion, to the extent of the value of such remaining or other portion, shall be subject to taxation; provided, however, that a lot or building owned and actually used for hospital purposes, by a free public hospital, depending for maintenance and support upon voluntary charity, shall not be taxed as to a portion thereof leased or otherwise used for the purposes of income, when such income is necessary for, and is actually applied to the maintenance and support of such hospital, and further provided that the real property of any fraternal corporation, association or body created to build and maintain a building or buildings for its meeting or meetings of the general assembly of its members, or subordinate bodies of such fraternity and for the accommodation of other fraternal bodies or associations, the entire net income of which real property is exclusively applied or to be used to build, furnish and maintain an asylum or asylums, a home or homes, a school or schools, for the free education or relief of the members of such fraternity, or for the relief, support and care of worthy and indigent members of the fraternity, their wives, widows or orphans, shall be exempt from taxation, and provided also that the real estate owned by a free public library, or held in trust by an educational corporation for free public library purposes situate outside of a city, shall not be taxed as to that portion thereof leased or otherwise used for purposes of income, when such income is necessary for and actually applied to the maintenance and support of such library. Property held by any officer of a religious denomination shall be entitled to the same exemptions, subject to the same conditions and exceptions, as property held by a religious corporation. Property held by trustees named in a will or deed of trust or appointed by the supreme court of the state of New York for hospital and library purposes, as set forth in this subdivision, shall be exempt to the same extent and subject to the same conditions and exceptions as if held by a corporation.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 285.

AN ACT to amend the county law, in relation to the compensation of supervisors.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision one of section twenty-three of chapter sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to counties, constituting chapter eleven of the consolidated laws," as such section was amended by chapter two hundred and seventy-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, chapter five hundred and fifty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, chapter thirty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, chapters two hundred and fifty-four and three hundred and fifty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, chapter three hundred and fifty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, chapter three hundred and thirty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, chapter four hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen and chapter five hundred and twenty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

1. For services of supervisors, except in the counties of Albany, Allegany, Broome, Cattaraugus, Cayuga, Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Orange, Erie, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, Herkimer, Montgomery, Niagara, Oneida, Onondaga, Otsego, Rensselaer, Rockland, Saratoga, Schenectady, Steuben, Suffolk, Ulster, Warren, Wyoming and Westchester each supervisor shall receive from the county compensation at the rate of four dollars per day, in Broome county at the rate of five dollars per day, in Essex county at the rate of eight dollars per day, in Cayuga county at the rate of six dollars per day, in Clinton county at the rate of six dollars per day and in Warren county at the rate of six dollars per day, for each calendar day's actual attendance at the sessions of their respective boards, and mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for once going and returning from his residence to the place where the sessions of the board shall be held, by the most usual route, for each regular and special session.

§ 2. Section twenty-three of such chapter is hereby amended by inserting therein two new subdivisions, to be subdivisions two-a and three-a, to read respectively as follows:

2-a. In the counties of Cattaraugus, Wyoming and Otsego each supervisor shall receive from the county compensation at the rate of six dollars per day for each calendar day's actual attendance at the sessions of the board of supervisors and mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for once going and returning every week during any regular or special session of such board from his place of residence to the place where any such session of the board is held.

3-a. In the county of Saint Lawrence each supervisor shall receive from the county the mileage above provided, an annual salary of three hundred and fifty dollars, six dollars per day while actually engaged in any investigation or other duty which may be lawfully committed to him by the board except for services rendered while the board is in session, and, if such investigation or duty require his attendance at a place away from his residence, his actual expenses incurred therein. Such per diem compensation and expense allowance shall be in lieu of the per diem compensation and expense allowance provided for by subdivision eight.

§ 3. Subdivision four of section twenty-three of chapter sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to counties, constituting chapter eleven of the consolidated laws," such section having been amended by chapter two hundred and seventy-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, chapter five hundred and fifty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, chapter thirty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, chapters two hundred and fifty-four and three hundred and fifty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, chapter three hundred and fifty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, chapter three hundred and thirty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, chapter four hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen, and amended and subdivided by chapter five hundred and twenty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

4. In the counties of Hamilton, Herkimer, Niagara, Rockland, Saratoga, Schenectady and Steuben each supervisor shall receive an annual salary, in the county of Herkimer of two hundred and twenty dollars and the mileage hereinbefore prescribed, in the county of Hamilton of one hundred and twenty dollars and his reasonable traveling expenses actually and necessarily incurred in once going and returning from his residence to the place where the sessions of the board shall be held, by the most usual route, for each regular and special session, in the county of Niagara of four hundred dollars, in the county of Rockland of four hundred dollars, in the county of Saratoga of five hundred dollars, in the county of Schenectady of five hundred dollars and in the county of Steuben of one hundred and fifty dollars, in lieu of any per diem compensation.

§ 4. Subdivision eight of section twenty-three of such chapter, as such section was amended by chapter two hundred and seventy-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, chapter five hundred and fifty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, chapter thirty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, chapters two hundred and fifty-four and three hundred and fifty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, chapter three hundred and fifty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, chapter three hundred and thirty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, chapter four hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen and chapter five hundred and twenty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

8. Each supervisor, except in the counties of Albany, Allegany, Broome, Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Orange, Erie, Franklin, Montgomery, Niagara, Oneida, Onondaga, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady, Suffolk, Ulster, Warren, Wyoming and Westchester may also receive compensation from the county at the rate of four dollars per day, and in Broome county at the rate of five dollars per day, and in the county of Franklin at a rate not exceeding eight dollars per day to be fixed by the board of supervisors, and in Clinton county, at the rate of six dollars per day, and in Warren county at the rate of six dollars per day, and in Wyoming county at the rate of six dollars per day, while actually engaged in any investigation or other duty which may be lawfully committed to him by the board, except for services rendered when the board is in session and, if such investigation or duty require his attendance at a place away from his residence, and five miles or more distant from the place where the board shall hold its sessions, his actual expenses incurred therein.

§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT relative to the constitutional oath of an attorney and counselor at law.

Became a law April 17, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Any person who, from actual service in the military or naval forces of the United States, is unable to take in open court the constitutional oath of office required of an attorney and counselor at law, may take such oath before the commanding officer of that person's regiment or ship or separate detachment, as the case may be, and such commanding officer is hereby authorized to administer such oath and to transmit the written or printed form thereof to the clerk of the proper appellate division, who, upon approval of the said court, shall file such oath in his office, and thereupon such oath shall have the full force and effect as if taken in open court; provided, however, that such person, as soon as he is physically able, shall forthwith subscribe the oath in the roll or book kept in the office of the said clerk and before he shall discharge any of the duties of an attorney and counselor at law.

CHAP. 264.

AN ACT to amend the public health law, in relation to certain contagious diseases.

Became a law April 17, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Chapter forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the public health, constituting chapter forty-five of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended by inserting therein a new article, to be article seventeen-b, to read as follows:

ARTICLE 17-B.

Regulation of Certain Contagious Diseases.

Section 343-m. Suspected persons.
343-n. Convicted persons.
343-o. Treatment required.
343-p. Free treatment for indigent persons.
343-q. Treatment only by physicians or on their prescriptions.
343-r. Reports and information confidential.
343-s. Penalties.
343-t. Definitions.

§ 343-m. Suspected persons. Whenever the board of health or health officer of a health district shall have reasonable ground to believe that any person within the jurisdiction of such board or health officer is suffering from, or infected with, any infectious venereal disease and is likely to infect or to be the source of infection of any other person, such board of health or health officer shall cause a medical examination to be made of such person, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not such person is in fact suffering from, or infected with, such disease, and every such person shall submit to such examination and permit such specimens of blood or bodily discharges to be taken for laboratory examinations as may be necessary to establish the presence or absence of such disease or infection, provided, that the required examination shall be made by the health officer, or, at the option of the person to be examined, by a licensed physician who, in the opinion of the health officer, is qualified for this work and is approved by him, and such licensed physician making such examination shall report thereon to the board of health, health department or health officer, but shall not issue a certificate of freedom from venereal disease to or for the person examined. Such suspected person may apply to a magistrate for an order restraining such examination and no examination shall then be made except upon order of such magistrate. Before such examination each suspected person shall be informed of this right and be given an opportunity to avail himself or herself thereof.

§ 343-n. Convicted persons. Every person convicted of vagrancy under subdivision three or four of section eight hundred and eighty-seven of the code of criminal procedure or under section one hundred and fifty of the tenement house law or under any statute or ordinance for any offense of the nature specified in subdivision four of section eight hundred and eighty-seven of the code of criminal procedure, or any person convicted of frequenting disorderly houses or houses of prostitution, shall be reported by the court or magistrate before whom such conviction is had to the board of health or health officer of the health district in which the offense occurred, and shall not be released from the jurisdiction of such court or magistrate until the person so convicted has been examined as provided for in the preceding section.

§ 343-o. Treatment required. Every person, who, by the examination as provided for in section three hundred and forty-three-m, is found to be suffering from, or infected with any infectious venereal disease, shall be required by the board of health, or the health officer of the district in which such person resides, to conform to all the rules and regulations made and approved by such board of health or health officer for persons so diseased, such rules and regulations, except as to the city of New York, to be first approved by the state department of health. Such rules and regulations shall provide that such person shall submit to a prescribed course of treatment by a duly licensed physician, engaged by the infected person, who has been approved by such board of health, health officer or the state department of health. Such rules and regulations may provide for the isolation and treatment of persons so infected and the local board or health officer shall in that case define the place and limits of the area within which such person shall be isolated, and the conditions under which such isolation and treatment shall be terminated. Any of such rules and regulations may be reviewed in the courts and tested as to reasonableness in a proceeding instituted by any person directed to conform therewith pursuant to this article.

§ 343-p. Free treatment for indigent persons. Any person who is suffering from a venereal disease in an infectious stage and who is unable to pay for treatment may make application for care and treatment to the board of health of the health district in which such person resides and such board shall promptly institute treatment. If such board or health officer after investigation finds that such person is in fact unable to pay for such treatment, such treatment shall be continued for such person without cost at the expense of the said district.

§ 343-q. Treatment only by physicians or on their prescriptions. No person, other than a licensed physician, shall treat or prescribe for a case of venereal disease, or dispense a drug, medicine or remedy for the treatment of such a disease except on prescription of a duly licensed physician. Such prescription shall be retained by the person dispensing such drug, medicine or remedy, and no copy of such prescription shall be made by or delivered to any person, and such prescription shall be filed but once.

§ 343-r. Reports and information confidential. All reports or information secured by a board of health or health officer under the provisions of this article shall be absolutely confidential except in so far as is necessary to carry out the purposes of the article.

§ 343-s. Penalties. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this article or any rule or regulation made and approved under the provisions of section three hundred and forty-three-o shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person who, knowing himself or herself to be infected with venereal disease, such as chancroid, gonorrhea or syphilis, in any of the variations or stages of such diseases, has sexual intercourse with a person in the military or naval service of the state or of the United States shall be guilty of a felony.

§ 343-t. Definitions. The term "health district" as used in this article shall mean a city, town, village or consolidated health district having a separate board of health.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss:

I have compared the preceding with the original law on file in this office, and do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom and of the whole of said original law.

LAWS OF NEW YORK.—By Authority.
CHAP. 268.

AN ACT to amend the county law, in relation to county tuberculosis hospitals.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section forty-five of chapter sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to counties, constituting chapter eleven of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter three hundred and forty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine and amended by chapters one hundred and sixty-six and three hundred and seventy-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, chapter three hundred and twenty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, chapters one hundred and thirty-two and four hundred and twenty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen and chapter four hundred and sixty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 45. The board of supervisors of every county in the state containing a population of thirty-five thousand or more, as determined by the latest state census, shall establish, as hereinafter provided, a county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from the disease known as tuberculosis, unless there already exists in such county a hospital or institution provided by the county or other authority and caring for persons suffering from tuberculosis, which is approved by the state commissioner of health, or the board of supervisors of such county shall enter into a contract prior to November first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, for the care of its tuberculosis patients with an adjoining county having such county hospital or with a private sanatorium within its county or shall join with one or more other counties in the establishment and maintenance of such county hospital as hereinafter provided. Such county hospital, except a hospital established and maintained by two or more counties, shall be available for patients on or before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and eighteen. If the board of supervisors of any such county shall have failed to secure a site for a county tuberculosis hospital, and to have awarded contracts for the erection of suitable buildings thereon by the first day of January, nineteen hundred and eighteen, it shall be the duty of the state commissioner of health forthwith to proceed to locate, construct and place in operation a tuberculosis hospital in and for such county, the capacity of which shall not exceed the average number of deaths per annum from tuberculosis in such county during the past five years. For such purposes the state commissioner of health shall possess, and it shall be his duty to exercise all the powers which would have been possessed by the board of supervisors of such county, had such hospital been established and placed in operation by the board of supervisors thereof. All expenditures incurred by the state commissioner of health for and in connection with the location, construction and operation of such hospital, shall be a charge upon the county, and provision shall be made for the payment therefor by the board of supervisors of such county in the same manner as in the case of other charges against the county. At any time after such hospital has been in operation, the board of supervisors in such county may appoint a board of managers for such hospital, pursuant to the provisions of this act and thirty days after the appointment of such board of managers by such board of supervisors, such hospital shall be transferred to such board of managers, and such board of managers shall thereafter possess and exercise all the powers of the board of managers of a county hospital for tuberculosis under this act, and the state commissioner of health shall be relieved from any responsibility therefor except such responsibility as he exercises in regard to all county tuberculosis hospitals under the provisions of this act.

When deemed advisable by the board of supervisors and approved by the state commissioner of health, any such county may maintain more than one county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from tuberculosis. The board of supervisors of any other county shall have power by a majority vote to establish a county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from the disease known as tuberculosis; or it may submit the question of establishing such a hospital to the voters of the county at any general election, and in any county in which town meetings at which all the voters of the county may vote are held in the spring of the year, the board of supervisors of such a county shall have authority also to submit the question of establishing such a hospital at said town meetings to the electors of the county who are qualified to vote at a general election. The board of supervisors shall fix the sum of money deemed necessary for the establishment of said hospital. The form of the proposition submitted shall read as follows: "Shall the county of .... appropriate the sum of .... dollars for the establishment of a tuberculosis hospital?" The clerk of the board of supervisors, immediately upon the adoption of such resolution, shall forward to the duly constituted election authorities of the county a certified copy of said resolution providing for the submission of the proposition. The election notices shall state that the proposition will be voted upon and in the form set forth above. Such proposition shall be submitted on a distinct and separate ballot without any other question being printed thereon, any general or special law to the contrary notwithstanding. Provision for taking such vote and for the canvassing and returning of the result shall be made by the duly constituted election authorities.

If a majority of the voters voting on such proposition shall vote in favor thereof then such hospital shall be established hereunder and the sum of money named in the said proposition shall be deemed appropriated, and it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to proceed forthwith to exercise the powers and authority conferred upon it in this section.

When the board of supervisors of any county shall have voted to establish such hospital, or when a referendum on the proposition of establishing such a hospital in a county, as authorized above, shall have been carried, the board of supervisors shall:

1. Purchase or lease real property therefor, or acquire such real property, and easements therein, by condemnation proceedings, in the manner prescribed by the condemnation law, in any town, city or village in the county. After the presentation of the petition in such proceeding prescribed in section three thousand three hundred and sixty of the code of civil procedure and the filing of the notice of pendency of action prescribed in section three thousand three hundred and eighty-one thereof, said board of supervisors shall be and become seized of the whole or such part of the real property described in said petition to be so acquired for carrying into effect the provisions of this act, as such board may, by resolution adopted at a regular or special session, determine to be necessary for the immediate use, and such board for and in the name of such county may enter upon, occupy and use such real property so described and required for such purposes. Such resolution shall contain a description of the real property of which possession is to be taken and the day upon which possession will be taken. Said board of supervisors shall cause a copy of such resolution to be filed in the county clerk's office of the county in which such property is situate, and notice of the adoption thereof, with a copy of the resolution and of its intention to take possession of the premises therein described on a day certain, also therein named, to be served, either personally or by mail, upon the owner or owners of, and persons interested in such real property, at least five days prior to the day fixed in such resolution for taking possession. From the time of the service of such notice, the entry upon and appropriation by the county of the real property therein described for the purposes provided for by this act, shall be deemed complete, and such notice so served shall be conclusive evidence of such entry and appropriation and of the quantity and boundaries of the lands appropriated. The board of supervisors may cause a duplicate copy of such papers so served, with an affidavit of due service thereof on such owner or persons interested, to be recorded in the books used for recording deeds in the office of the county clerk of its county, and the record of such notice and such proof of service shall be prima facie evidence of the due service thereof. Compensation for property thus acquired shall be made in such condemnation proceedings.

2. Erect all necessary buildings and alter any buildings, on the property when acquired for the use of said hospital, provided that the location of the buildings and the plans and such part of the specifications as shall be required by the state commissioner of health for such erection or alteration together with the initial equipment shall first be approved by the state commissioner of health. Any changes in such location or plans shall also be first approved by the state commissioner of health and the state commissioner of health and his duly authorized representatives shall have the power to inspect such county hospitals during the course of their construction for the purpose of seeing that such plans are complied with.

3. Cause to be assessed, levied and collected such sums of money as it shall deem necessary for suitable lands, buildings and improvements for said hospital, and for the maintenance thereof, and for all other necessary expenditures therefor; and to borrow money for the erection of such hospital and for the purchase of a site therefor on the credit of the county, and issue county obligations therefor, in such manner as it may do for other county purposes.

4. Appoint a board of managers for said hospital as hereinafter provided.

5. Accept and hold in trust for the county, any grant or devise of land, or any gift or bequest of money or other personal property, or any donation to be applied, principal or income, or both, for the benefit of said hospital, and apply the same in accordance with the terms of the gift.

6. Whenever it shall deem it in the public interest so to do, and notwithstanding the provisions of any other general or special act, change the location of such hospital and acquire a new site by purchase, lease or condemnation, as provided in this section, and establish the hospital thereon. The board of supervisors of any county of the state, including a county in which the provisions of this chapter are not mandatory, subject to the approval of the state commissioner of health, may enter into a contract prior to November first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, for the care of its tuberculosis patients with the board of supervisors of an adjoining county having such county hospital or with a private sanatorium within its county, or may, subject to like approval, jointly with the boards of supervisors of one or more other adjoining counties, establish prior to November first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and thereafter maintain such county hospital. In the establishment and maintenance of such joint county hospital, the boards of supervisors so uniting, in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the state commissioner of health, shall have jointly, except as provided in this section, all the power and authority conferred and obligations imposed upon boards of supervisors by this chapter for the establishment and maintenance of such county hospital in a single county and, for that purpose, each board of supervisors in such county shall appoint severally three of its members, who collectively shall be a commission, to select a site for such joint county hospital in any town, city or village in one of such counties and, when the necessary real property so selected by such commission shall have been acquired, purchased or leased as herein provided, to erect all necessary buildings, and alter any buildings, on such property for the use of such joint hospital. Such commission shall have all the powers and duties conferred or imposed upon boards of supervisors by sections forty-five to forty-nine inclusive of this chapter, except as in this section expressly otherwise provided. Every such joint county hospital shall be completed and ready for occupancy prior to July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen. When completed, each board of supervisors in such counties shall appoint severally three citizens of its county, of whom at least one shall be a practicing physician, who collectively shall constitute a board of managers of such joint county hospital and shall exercise the functions and powers granted and be subject, so far as practicable, to the provisions of this chapter applicable to boards of managers of a county hospital established under this chapter in a single county and said board of managers shall appoint at least one nurse in each county for the discovery, visitation and care of persons affected with tuberculosis and may appoint such additional nurse or nurses as it may deem necessary. The representation and voting power of each manager in such joint board shall be upon the basis and at the rate of one vote for each one thousand and major fraction of the population of the county from which such manager shall be chosen as determined by the latest state census. The superintendent appointed by such board shall have the powers and perform the duties which are prescribed in this chapter for superintendents of hospitals in a single county and the other employees of such board shall perform such duties as the board shall prescribe. The expense of the establishment and maintenance of a joint county hospital as herein provided shall be paid by such counties in proportion to the assessed value of the taxable property of each such county as it appears by the assessment rolls of such counties on the last assessment for state or county taxes prior to the incurring of such expense and the board of supervisors of each county so combining, is hereby authorized to borrow money to defray its share, estimated as herein provided, for the erection of such hospital and for the purchase of a site therefor on the credit of the county and issue county obligations therefor in such manner as it may do for other county purposes. All provisions of sections forty-five to forty-nine inclusive of this chapter not in conflict with the provisions of this section shall apply to such joint hospital, its establishment, maintenance and operation, except that for the purpose of the admission of patients to such hospital each of the counties so combining shall be considered the county in which the hospital is situated.

§ 2. The amendments made by this act shall not apply to counties in which a site for a tuberculosis hospital has been selected by any county and a petition for the approval of such site has been presented to the state board of health pursuant to the provisions of this chapter.

§ 3. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the penal law, in relation to the maintenance by the state of felons sentenced to imprisonment in penitentiaries.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section twenty-one hundred and eighty-two of the penal law is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 2182. Sentence to imprisonment for one year. Where a person is convicted of a crime, for which the punishment inflicted is imprisonment for a term of one year, he may be sentenced to, and the imprisonment may be inflicted by, confinement either in a county jail, or in a penitentiary or state prison. No person shall be sentenced to imprisonment in a state prison for less than one year. The expense of maintaining persons convicted of a felony who shall be sentenced to imprisonment in a penitentiary shall be paid by the state at the rate of sixty cents per day per capita.

§ 2. This act shall take effect September first, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

AN ACT to amend the banking law, in relation to the investment of the deposits and guaranty fund of savings banks in bankers acceptances and bills of exchange.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section two hundred thirty-nine of chapter three hundred sixty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, entitled "An act in relation to banking corporations, and individuals, partnerships, unincorporated associations and corporations under the supervision of the banking department, constituting chapter two of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter five hundred fifteen of the laws of nineteen hundred fifteen and chapter three hundred sixty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred sixteen, is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof a new subdivision to read as follows:

11. Bankers' acceptances and bills of exchange of the kind and maturities made eligible by law for rediscount with federal reserve banks, provided the same are accepted by a bank, national banking association or trust company, incorporated under the laws of the state of New York or under the laws of the United States and having its principal place of business in the state of New York. Not more than twenty per centum of the assets of any savings bank less the amount of the available fund held pursuant to the provisions of section two hundred fifty-one of this chapter, shall be invested in such acceptances. The aggregate amount of the liability of any bank, national banking association or trust company to any savings bank for acceptances held by such savings bank and deposits made with it shall not exceed twenty-five per centum of the paid-up capital and surplus of such bank, national banking association or trust company and not more than five per centum of the aggregate amount credited to the depositors of any savings bank shall be invested in the acceptances of or deposited with a bank, national banking association or trust company of which a trustee of such savings bank is a director.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 271.

AN ACT to amend the tax law, in relation to a franchise tax on manufacturing and mercantile corporations.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section two hundred and nineteen-j of chapter sixty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to taxation, constituting chapter sixty of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter seven hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 219-j. Exemptions from certain other taxation. After this article takes effect, corporations taxable thereunder shall not be assessed on any personal property or capital stock, as provided for in section twelve of this chapter, except for taxes levied for the fiscal year ending December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in taxing districts in which the fiscal year is coterminous with the calendar year; and where taxes are required by law to be levied for local purposes for a fiscal year beginning in nineteen hundred and seventeen and ending in nineteen hundred and eighteen, such corporations shall not be assessed on any personal property or capital stock, as provided for in section twelve of this chapter, except for taxes levied for such fiscal year.

If, in any taxing district, by reason of the provisions of this section as originally enacted by chapter seven hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, the assessment of the personal property or capital stock of any such corporation has been omitted from the assessment-roll for the fiscal year specifically referred to in the first paragraph in this section, the assessors of such district shall enter the same in the assessment-roll first prepared after this act goes into effect, at the valuation of such fiscal year, or if not then valued, at such valuation as the assessors shall determine for such year. Before finally fixing such valuation the assessors shall give to such corporation a notice of at least five days and an opportunity to be heard with reference thereto. Such property shall be taxed at the rate per centum of the fiscal year in which it was omitted from the assessment-roll. The whole amount of tax so imposed on the personal property or capital stock of such corporations shall be deducted from the aggregate of taxation otherwise to be levied on such taxing district for the current year, before such tax is levied.

After this article takes effect corporations taxable thereunder shall not be required to pay the franchise tax imposed by section one hundred and eighty-two of this chapter, or to make the reports called for in sections twenty-seven and one hundred and ninety-two of this chapter, except that, for the purpose of assessing the personal property or capital stock of such corporations as specifically provided in this section, such corporations may be required to make the report called for in such section twenty-seven. Nothing herein shall be construed to impair the obligation to pay franchise taxes due on or before the fifteenth day of January, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or taxes on personal property or capital stock assessed as specifically provided in this section, whether such taxes have been or may hereafter be assessed. But if any corporation taxed under this article shall have paid or shall hereafter pay taxes on personal property or capital stock assessed as specifically provided in this section, for any part of the calendar year nineteen hundred and eighteen, such corporation shall be entitled to credit, with interest, as hereinafter provided, for the amount of such part of the taxes so paid locally as the portion of the year nineteen hundred and eighteen for which such taxes shall have been paid bears to the entire calendar year. And if, in any taxing district, by reason of the provisions of this section as originally enacted by chapter seven hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, any such corporation shall have paid or shall hereafter pay taxes on personal property or capital stock for the year ending December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, such corporation shall be entitled to credit, with interest, as hereinafter provided, for the amount of taxes so paid locally.

Such credits shall be granted by the tax commission on the submission of satisfactory proofs that the corporation is entitled thereto. The tax commission shall forthwith notify the corporation and the comptroller of any credit so granted. Such credit may be used by the corporation entitled thereto in the payment of taxes charged against it under this article, or such credit or any part thereof may be assigned by the corporation in whose favor it is allowed to a corporation liable to pay taxes under this article, and the assignee of the whole or any part of such credit on filing with the comptroller such assignment shall thereupon be entitled to credit upon the books of the comptroller for the amount thereof on the account for taxes of such assignee in the same way and with the same effect as though the credit had originally been allowed in favor of such assignee.

The comptroller is authorized and directed to charge such credits against the several taxing districts in which the taxes credited were originally paid, and to deduct such amount or amounts from any taxes thereafter found due to such taxing districts under the provisions of this article. If the amount so charged against a taxing district is in excess of the amount in the possession of the comptroller to be returned to such taxing district under this article, the comptroller shall enter such excess of credits upon his books against the state's share of the taxes collected under this article and not previously accounted for to the state treasurer. The comptroller shall advise the state treasurer of all such proceedings and shall retain from any funds subsequently found due to any such taxing district under this article a like amount which shall be deposited with the state treasurer with an accounting therefor.

§ 2. Section two hundred and nineteen-j of such chapter as amended by this act shall be construed as having been in effect, as so amended, as of the date of the original enactment of article nine-a of the tax law, as added by chapter seven hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen.

§ 3. Such chapter is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be known as section two hundred and nineteen-l to read as follows:

§ 219-l. Personal property defined. The term "personal property," for the purposes of the exemption from assessment and taxation thereon locally as granted by section two hundred and nineteen-j of this chapter, shall include such machinery and equipment affixed to the building as would not pass between grantor and grantee as a part of the premises if not specifically mentioned or referred to in the deed, or as would, if the building were vacated or sold, or the nature of the work carried on therein changed, be moved, except boilers, ventilating apparatus, elevators, gas, electric and water power generating apparatus and shafting. An owner of a building is entitled to the same exemption under this section as a lessee and every assessment of real property made subsequent to June fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall be subject to the provisions of this section as amended hereby.

§ 4. Section two hundred and nineteen-c of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 219-c. When tax payable. The tax hereby imposed shall be paid to the state comptroller on or before the first day of January of each year, or within thirty days after notice of the tax has been given as provided in section two hundred and nineteen-b of this chapter if such notice is given subsequent to the first day of December of the year for which such tax is imposed. If such tax be not so paid, or in the case of additional taxes, if not paid within thirty days after notice of such additional tax has been given as provided in section two hundred and nineteen-d of this chapter and such notice of additional tax is given subsequent to the first day of December of the year for which such additional tax is imposed, the corporation liable to such tax shall pay to the state comptroller, in addition to the amount of such tax, or additional tax, ten per centum of such amount, plus one per centum for each month the tax or additional tax remains unpaid. No such penalty or charge shall be added to the amount of such tax or additional tax imposed for the year beginning November first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, if such tax or additional tax is paid within thirty days after the passage of this act. Each such tax or additional tax shall be a lien upon and binding upon the real and personal property of the corporation liable to pay the same from the time when it is payable until the same is paid in full.

§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the county law, in relation to the employment of county nurses.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision nine of section forty-seven of chapter sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to counties, constituting chapter eleven of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter three hundred twenty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen and amended by chapter four hundred sixty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

9. Shall employ a county nurse, or an additional nurse or nurses if it deems necessary, for the discovery of tuberculosis cases and for the visitation of such cases and of patients discharged from the hospital and for such other duties as may seem appropriate; and shall cause to be examined by the superintendent or one of his medical staff suspected cases of tuberculosis reported to it by the county nurse, or nurses, or by physicians, teachers, employers, heads of families or others; and it may take such other steps for the care, treatment and prevention of tuberculosis as it may from time to time deem wise. In cases, however, where it is not mandatory to establish a county tuberculosis hospital and no board of managers has been provided, the board of supervisors shall have the power to appoint and employ such nurse or additional nurse or nurses, and appointments heretofore made by boards of supervisors in such cases are hereby ratified, confirmed and legalized.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the tax law, in relation to exemption of property held by trustees for hospital or library purposes.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision seven of section four of chapter sixty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to taxation, constituting chapter sixty of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter four hundred and eleven of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. The real property of a corporation or association organized exclusively for the moral or mental improvement of men or women, or for religious, bible, tract, charitable, benevolent, missionary, hospital, infirmary, educational, scientific, literary, library, patriotic, historical or cemetery purposes, or for the enforcement of laws relating to children or animals, or for two or more such purposes, and used exclusively for carrying out thereupon one or more of such purposes, and the personal property of any such corporation shall be exempt from taxation. But no such corporation or association shall be entitled to any such exemption if any officer, member or employee thereof shall receive or may be lawfully entitled to receive any pecuniary profit from the operations thereof, except reasonable compensation for services in effecting one or more of such purposes, or as proper beneficiaries of its strictly charitable purposes; or if the organization thereof for any such avowed purposes be a guise or pretense for directly or indirectly making any other pecuniary profit for such corporation or association, or for any of its members or employees, or if it be not in good faith organized or conducted exclusively for one or more of such purposes. The real property of any such corporation or association entitled to such exemption held by it exclusively for one or more of such purposes and from which no rents, profits or income are derived, shall be so exempt, though not in actual use therefor by reason of the absence of suitable buildings or improvements thereon, if the construction of such buildings or improvements is in progress, or is in good faith contemplated by such corporation or association; or if such real property is held by such corporation or association upon condition that the title thereto shall revert in case any building not intended and suitable for one or more of such purposes shall be erected upon said premises or some part thereof. The real property of any such corporation not so used exclusively for carrying out thereupon one or more of such purposes but leased or otherwise used for other purposes, shall not be exempt, but if a portion only of any lot or building of any such corporation or association is used exclusively for carrying out thereupon one or more such purposes of any such corporation or association, then such lot or building shall be so exempt only to the extent of the value of the portion so used, and the remaining or other portion, to the extent of the value of such remaining or other portion, shall be subject to taxation; provided, however, that a lot or building owned and actually used for hospital purposes, by a free public hospital, depending for maintenance and support upon voluntary charity, shall not be taxed as to a portion thereof leased or otherwise used for the purposes of income, when such income is necessary for, and is actually applied to the maintenance and support of such hospital, and further provided that the real property of any fraternal corporation, association or body created to build and maintain a building or buildings for its meeting or meetings of the general assembly of its members, or subordinate bodies of such fraternity and for the accommodation of other fraternal bodies or associations, the entire net income of which real property is exclusively applied or to be used to build, furnish and maintain an asylum or asylums, a home or homes, a school or schools, for the free education or relief of the members of such fraternity, or for the relief, support and care of worthy and indigent members of the fraternity, their wives, widows or orphans, shall be exempt from taxation, and provided also that the real estate owned by a free public library, or held in trust by an educational corporation for free public library purposes situate outside of a city, shall not be taxed as to that portion thereof leased or otherwise used for purposes of income, when such income is necessary for and actually applied to the maintenance and support of such library. Property held by any officer of a religious denomination shall be entitled to the same exemptions, subject to the same conditions and exceptions, as property held by a religious corporation. Property held by trustees named in a will or deed of trust or appointed by the supreme court of the state of New York for hospital and library purposes, as set forth in this subdivision, shall be exempt to the same extent and subject to the same conditions and exceptions as if held by a corporation.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 285.

AN ACT to amend the county law, in relation to the compensation of supervisors.

Became a law April 19, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subdivision one of section twenty-three of chapter sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to counties, constituting chapter eleven of the consolidated laws," as such section was amended by chapter two hundred and seventy-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, chapter five hundred and fifty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, chapter thirty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, chapters two hundred and fifty-four and three hundred and fifty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, chapter three hundred and fifty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, chapter three hundred and thirty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, chapter four hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen and chapter five hundred and twenty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

1. For services of supervisors, except in the counties of Albany, Allegany, Broome, Cattaraugus, Cayuga, Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Orange, Erie, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, Herkimer, Montgomery, Niagara, Oneida, Onondaga, Otsego, Rensselaer, Rockland, Saratoga, Schenectady, Steuben, Suffolk, Ulster, Warren, Wyoming and Westchester each supervisor shall receive from the county compensation at the rate of four dollars per day, in Broome county at the rate of five dollars per day, in Essex county at the rate of eight dollars per day, in Cayuga county at the rate of six dollars per day, in Clinton county at the rate of six dollars per day and in Warren county at the rate of six dollars per day, for each calendar day's actual attendance at the sessions of their respective boards, and mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for once going and returning from his residence to the place where the sessions of the board shall be held, by the most usual route, for each regular and special session.

§ 2. Section twenty-three of such chapter is hereby amended by inserting therein two new subdivisions, to be subdivisions two-a and three-a, to read respectively as follows:

2-a. In the counties of Cattaraugus, Wyoming and Otsego each supervisor shall receive from the county compensation at the rate of six dollars per day for each calendar day's actual attendance at the sessions of the board of supervisors and mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for once going and returning every week during any regular or special session of such board from his place of residence to the place where any such session of the board is held.

3-a. In the county of Saint Lawrence each supervisor shall receive from the county the mileage above provided, an annual salary of three hundred and fifty dollars, six dollars per day while actually engaged in any investigation or other duty which may be lawfully committed to him by the board except for services rendered while the board is in session, and, if such investigation or duty require his attendance at a place away from his residence, his actual expenses incurred therein. Such per diem compensation and expense allowance shall be in lieu of the per diem compensation and expense allowance provided for by subdivision eight.

§ 3. Subdivision four of section twenty-three of chapter sixteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to counties, constituting chapter eleven of the consolidated laws," such section having been amended by chapter two hundred and seventy-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, chapter five hundred and fifty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, chapter thirty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, chapters two hundred and fifty-four and three hundred and fifty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, chapter three hundred and fifty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, chapter three hundred and thirty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, chapter four hundred and twentysix of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen, and amended and subdivided by chapter five hundred and twenty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

4. In the counties of Hamilton, Herkimer, Niagara, Rockland, Saratoga, Schenectady and Steuben each supervisor shall receive an annual salary, in the county of Herkimer of two hundred and twenty dollars and the mileage hereinbefore prescribed, in the county of Hamilton of one hundred and twenty dollars and his reasonable traveling expenses actually and necessarily incurred in once going and returning from his residence to the place where the sessions of the board shall be held, by the most usual route, for each regular and special session, in the county of Niagara of four hundred dollars, in the county of Rockland of four hundred dollars, in the county of Saratoga of five hundred dollars, in the county of Schenectady of five hundred dollars and in the county of Steuben of one hundred and fifty dollars, in lieu of any per diem compensation.

§ 4. Subdivision eight of section twenty-three of such chapter, as such section was amended by chapter two hundred and seventy-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, chapter five hundred and fifty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, chapter thirty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, chapters two hundred and fifty-four and three hundred and fifty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, chapter three hundred and fifty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, chapter three hundred and thirty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, chapter four hundred and twenty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen and chapter five hundred and twenty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

8. Each supervisor, except in the counties of Albany, Allegany, Broome, Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Orange, Erie, Franklin, Montgomery, Niagara, Oneida, Onondaga, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady, Suffolk, Ulster, Warren, Wyoming and Westchester may also receive compensation from the county at the rate of four dollars per day, and in Broome county at the rate of five dollars per day, and in the county of Franklin at a rate not exceeding eight dollars per day to be fixed by the board of supervisors, and in Clinton county, at the rate of six dollars per day, and in Warren county at the rate of six dollars per day, and in Wyoming county at the rate of six dollars per day, while actually engaged in any investigation or other duty which may be lawfully committed to him by the board, except for services rendered when the board is in session and, if such investigation or duty require his attendance at a place away from his residence, and five miles or more distant from the place where the board shall hold its sessions, his actual expenses incurred therein.

§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

Two Famous Dentists.

The first dentist to fill the nerve cavity with gold was Edward Maynard, who was born in Madison, N. J., 107 years ago. Maynard was also the inventor of many of the instruments now used in dental surgery. In 1835 he graduated in dental surgery and settled in Washington, where he practiced for fifty-five years. While Doctor Maynard was experimenting with improved fillings for teeth and inventing new appliances Dr. William T. G. Morton, a Boston dentist, robbed surgery of much of its horror by introducing the use of ether in operations. This was in 1844, a few years after the first dental college in America was founded in Baltimore.

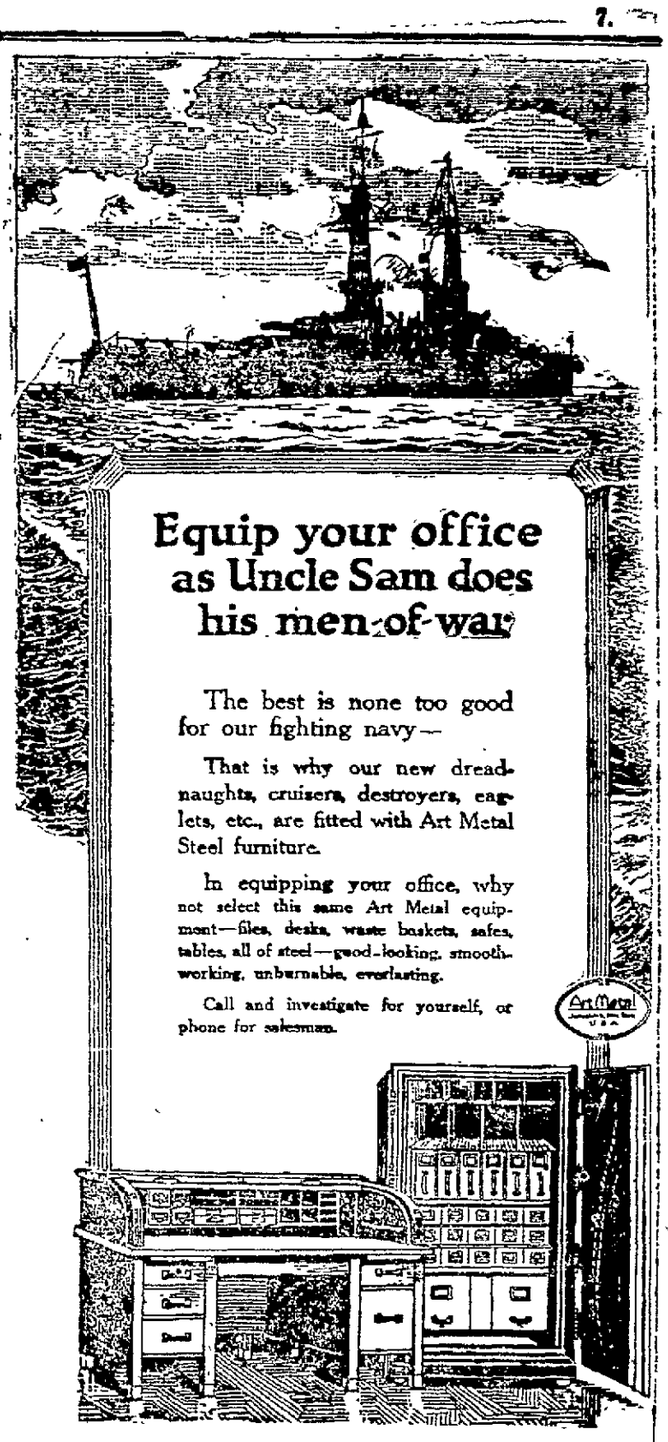
Forefathers Had No Luxuries.

People who complain because they cannot get some of the little luxuries they used to enjoy before the war might do well to remember that their forefathers lived without sugar till the fourteenth century, without coal till the fourteenth, without butter on their bread till the fifteenth, without tobacco and potatoes till the sixteenth, without tea, coffee and soap till the seventeenth, without umbrellas and lamps till the eighteenth, and without trains, telegrams, telephones, gas and machines till the nineteenth.

Hoping She Gets Away With It.

"He told me I am getting thin," said the fat lady. "That was nice of him, but surely you know whether you are or not." "Oh yes, I know by the scales that I'm not losing any flesh, but what I'm wondering is whether or not I'm carrying my weight so well that he really thinks I weigh less than I do?"



Rabbit Skins Useful.

Millions of rabbits are killed annually in the British Isles and in Australia for their skins, or, rather, for their fur, which is used in making felt hats. Great quantities of the English rabbit skins are sent to hat manufacturers in the United States, but first they go to the continent of Europe to have the long, useless hairs laboriously pulled out by cheap hand labor. Satisfactory machines to do this work are, it appears, lacking. After the skins reach America the close hair, or fur, is shaved off to be made into felt.

Of Deep Historic Interest.

When Jacob died in Egypt "Joseph commanded his servants, the physicians, to embalm his father; and the physicians embalmed Israel." This passage from Genesis has now an added interest. If the body of Jacob was embalmed in the Egyptian manner, it ought now, when Hebron (with the cave Machpelah, where Jacob was buried) is in British hands, to be found possibly with Joseph's inscriptions.

Two Famous Dentists.

The first dentist to fill the nerve cavity with gold was Edward Maynard, who was born in Madison, N. J., 107 years ago. Maynard was also the inventor of many of the instruments now used in dental surgery. In 1835 he graduated in dental surgery and settled in Washington, where he practiced for fifty-five years. While Doctor Maynard was experimenting with improved fillings for teeth and inventing new appliances Dr. William T. G. Morton, a Boston dentist, robbed surgery of much of its horror by introducing the use of ether in operations. This was in 1844, a few years after the first dental college in America was founded in Baltimore.

Forefathers Had No Luxuries.

People who complain because they cannot get some of the little luxuries they used to enjoy before the war might do well to remember that their forefathers lived without sugar till the fourteenth century, without coal till the fourteenth, without butter on their bread till the fifteenth, without tobacco and potatoes till the sixteenth, without tea, coffee and soap till the seventeenth, without umbrellas and lamps till the eighteenth, and without trains, telegrams, telephones, gas and machines till the nineteenth.

Hoping She Gets Away With It.

"He told me I am getting thin," said the fat lady. "That was nice of him, but surely you know whether you are or not." "Oh yes, I know by the scales that I'm not losing any flesh, but what I'm wondering is whether or not I'm carrying my weight so well that he really thinks I weigh less than I do?"

Rabbit Skins Useful.

Millions of rabbits are killed annually in the British isles and in Australia for their skins, or, rather, for their fur, which is used in making felt hats. Great quantities of the English rabbit skins are sent to hat manufacturers in the United States, but first they go to the continent of Europe to have the long, useless hairs laboriously pulled out by cheap hand labor. Satisfactory machines to do this work are, it appears, lacking. After the skins reach America the close hair, or fur, is shaved off to be made into felt.

Of Deep Historic Interest.

When Jacob died in Egypt "Joseph commanded his servants, the physicians, to embalm his father; and the physicians embalmed Israel." This passage from Genesis has now an added interest. If the body of Jacob was embalmed in the Egyptian manner, it ought now, when Hebron (with the cave Machpelah, where Jacob was buried) is in British hands, to be found possibly with Joseph's inscriptions.

Church of the Presentation, the Rev. M Gearin, rector—Masses at 7:30 and 10:30. Sunday school at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs Frank Doyle and son of Kingston were guests of Mr and Mrs Legrand Doyle on Riverside avenue Friday

Everybody who came early and who were fortunate to get seats were delighted with the entertainment, held in the chapel of the Methodist Church of Port Ewen last evening. This entertainment was given under the auspices of the Adult Bible Class and was directed by Miss Mildred French Page of the Emerson College of Expression and Oratory of Boston, Mass. Miss Page is surely an artist in her profession This was very evident in her individual selections given by herself, and was also evident in the exercises given by home talent as they were trained under her direction. Much credit for the success of the entertainment is due to Mrs Charles Zimmerman, who was the efficient pianist.

George Propheter will be the [illegible] the Methodist Church of Port Ewen Sunday evening, July 21, at the regular hour of service. Surely the people of Port Ewen will be glad to hear this as they know of his ability as a speaker, and as a thinker Mr. Propheter will speak from John 8-32, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth make you free." Port Ewen people and others come and hear something good.

Dance at the Point.

A big benefit dance will be held Monday evening at the Casino at Kingston Point Park, the proceeds going for the benefit of the 237 drafted men who leave Kingston next Thursday. Arrangements have been completed for handling the largest crowd that has ever attended the Casino, and the committee who have charge of the affair are working night and day to make the affair the most successful event of its kind ever held in the city. The tickets are selling at a moderat cost and it is hoped that every person whether they attend or not will purchase at least one ticket Mr Miller, who has charge of the Casino, has kindly given free use of the hall, and also will donate the services of his orchestra for the occasion, thus making certain that those who attend will enjoy the best of dancing music

Is Not Collecting.

Mrs Theron Mowers of Liberty street wishes to state that she is not collecting any money from the colored folks of Kingston towards the treat fund for the boys who leave for camp Thursday, but both she and her husband will contribute towards anything gotten up for the boys who leave our city for camp.

The Franklin Car

Here is a Light Limousine—One You Will Use Any Time, For Any Purpose

YOU will notice this about the Franklin Limousine: It is just the right size for real usefulness.

It will serve you in ways impossible with big limousines.

It weighs 2620 pounds, no more than the average touring car. This light weight economizes in tires and gasoline and makes the car practical for open-country driving.

A handy car to get around in. Your chauffeur can pilot it through traffic quickly, safely, easily.

The Franklin Limousine is the kind of a car you don't want to give up, no matter what the season or the occasion. A favorite with motorists who always like to feel and look their best.

Probably you have heretofore looked at limousines as cars strictly for social use. In the Franklin we can show you how a light limousine makes a car you will want to use all the time.

The car is now on our salesroom floor.

The Franklin Car

Here is a Light Limousine—One You Will Use Any Time, For Any Purpose

YOU will notice this about the Franklin Limousine: It is just the right size for real usefulness.

It will serve you in ways impossible with big limousines.

It weighs 2620 pounds, no more than the average touring car. This light weight economizes in tires and gasoline and makes the car practical for open-country driving.

A handy car to get around in. Your chauffeur can pilot it through traffic quickly, safely, easily.

The Franklin Limousine is the kind of a car you don't want to give up, no matter what the season or the occasion. A favorite with motorists who always like to feel and look their best.

Probably you have heretofore looked at limousines as cars strictly for social use. In the Franklin we can show you how a light limousine makes a car you will want to use all the time.

The car is now on our salesroom floor.
